EU lorries facing £10 a day levy

PLANS to charge foreign lorry drivers for using British roads have received cross-party support.

MPs backed the HGV Road User Levy Bill, which will see hauliers from the continent pay £10 a day, up to a maximum of £1,000 a year, for using the UK network.

Ministers hope it will help British haulage companies compete with foreign firms which do not pay vehicle excise duty and often arrive on British soil with their fuel tanks full – meaning they can avoid paying duty at petrol pumps.

Transport Secretary Patrick McLoughlin said: "Vehicles which cause wear and tear to our roads should make a payment."

He claimed foreign lorry drivers had "long enjoyed an advantage over our own haulage industry".

Hague backing for Syria rebels

BRITAIN is to step up its support for opponents of president Bashar Assad after officially recognising a newly-formed coalition of rebel groups in Syria.

Foreign Secretary William Hague hailed the formation of the National Coalition of the Syrian Revolutionary and Opposition Forces as a "major breakthrough" in terms of securing a political transition from the discredited Assad regime.

They'd be given British assistance in establishing political structures, improving communications and meeting basic needs.

A ROGUE trader who carried out the UK's largest ever fraud, losing £1.4bn in bad deals which nearly brought down a major bank, has been jailed for seven years.

At one point during his run of losses former rising star City trader Kwaku Adoboli (left), 32, stood to run up losses of £7.5bn for employer UBS.

City of London Police, who probed Adoboli after he confessed his losses in an email to pals, said he was one of the most sophisticated fraudsters the force had come across.

Adoboli was accused of exceeding his multi-million-pound trading limits and failing to hedge trades, and faking records to cover his tracks at the Swiss bank's London office.

He admitted the losses but claimed that he was pressured by staff to take risks, culminating in bad deals which wiped £2.8bn off the bank's share value when discovered.

7 YEARS FOR £1.4 BILLION ROGUE TRADER

The Ghanaian-born former public schoolboy was sentenced after a trial that lasted more than nine weeks at Southwark Crown Court in London.

The jury convicted him unanimously of one count of fraud linked to the £1.4billion loss.

He was found guilty of a second fraud charge by majority verdict but cleared of four remaining charges after the jury deliberated for five days.

Jailing him, trial judge Mr Justice Keith told Adoboli: "There is a strong streak of the gambler in you."

"You were arrogant to think the bank's rules for traders did not apply to you."

EIGHT HELD AS KID SEX COPS SWOOP

SUSPECTED members of a sex abuse gang were arrested yesterday in a series of dawn raids by cops.

Police said a girl claimed she was abused between 2007 and 2012, and they believe there might be other victims who have fallen prey to the same group.

The arrests targeted people alleged to be involved in child sexual exploitation.

Det Chief Insp Vince Grey said: "In terms of child exploitation, the general premise is there will be a number of victims."

"With this particular victim, she's mainly discussed actions involving herself, not going into any great details in terms of other persons, but we believe in terms of what she told us that there will be others."

The force is appealing for other potential victims to come forward following the raids in High Wycombe, Bucks.

Thames Valley Police said officers arrested eight men aged between 20 and 28.

They were all held on suspicion of committing sexual offences against a girl.

The force believes that victims may have been groomed – when abusers make friends with potential victims – by members of the gang.

Mr Grey said: "You enter the grooming stage first – obviously, grooming is a specific offence."

Offences

"One stream can develop into where we are now, when that process has taken place and that turns into an abusive relationship of some sort, which can lead to more damaging exploitation and sexual offences."

Mr Grey praised the girl, who is under 18, for having the courage to speak to police.

He said: "She has been extremely brave and courageous in coming forward in the first place; obviously we can't imagine what she and other victims have gone through."

"She's come forward and she's indicated what offending has happened to her, who has been involved in that, and over what time period."

The suspects were identified from the girl's account, along with additional investigation, Mr Grey said.

He added: "We will not tolerate child exploitation in and today's warrants are part of a lengthy investigation."

"We believe that it is likely that there are more victims who have not yet spoken to the police and would like to encourage anyone who is a victim to come forward and contact us – we have support networks in place."

Brooks and Coulson on bribery rap

FIVE people including former spin doctor Andy Coulson and ex-News International chief executive Rebekah Brooks are facing charges linked to alleged bribery of public officials.

The Crown Prosecution Service have announced that Coulson and former News of the World royal correspondent Clive Goodman are accused of a conspiracy to pay for information that included contact details for the royal family.

Brooks and former Sun chief reporter John Kay are charged with conspiring to pay Ministry of Defence employee Bettina Jordan-Barber around £100,000 for information.

Coulson, who was editor of the now defunct News of the World, denied any wrongdoing.

David Cameron's former spin doctor Coulson, 44, and Goodman face two counts of conspiracy to commit misconduct in a public office between 2002 and 2005.

Brooks (above), Kay and Jordan-Barber face one count of conspiracy to commit misconduct in a public office.

37 years for double killer

A ROBBER who killed twice while on the run has been jailed for at least 37 years after he was convicted of two counts of murder.

James Allen, 36, savagely attacked 81-year-old Colin Dunford in his Middlesbrough terrace home, then three days later stabbed Julie Davison, 50, to death at her flat in Whitby, North Yorkshire.

The double killing sparked a huge manhunt which ended in Leeds when an off-duty police officer spotted him.

Allen, who has a history of violent crime, was convicted of murdering his vulnerable victims following a trial at Newcastle Crown Court.

Mr Justice Openshaw jailed him for life for the murders, which he said were of "quite exceptional brutality", and told him he would not be eligible for parole until he had served at least 37 years.

The manhunt drew national publicity and ended on April 29, when Blackpool-born Allen (left) was arrested.

He had stolen cash, cards and jewellery from his victims.

Reid shocked by Chantelle break-up rage

WILD cage fighter Alex Reid says he's BAFFLED that his ex Chantelle Houghton was upset when she caught him texting men, wearing frocks and playing with sex toys.

The outrageous former Celeb Big Brother winner has spoken for the first time since he was dumped by Chantelle for setting up a 'sex dungeon' in their home.

Alex, 37, explained: "I described myself as 'trysexual' once. But I'd say I'm a heterosexual who likes kinkiness."

"I'm obviously sexually liberated and very open-minded."

"But Chantelle knew everything before we got together. She saw me as Roxanne. What she's been saying makes no sense to me."

Speaking about the sex dungeon, he said: "Since when does a couple of sex toys and some porn make a house a 'sex dungeon'?"

And on men he said: "I'm not a smoker, but I've tried a cigarette. In my youth I was curious and experimented but I found out I preferred women."

Cam loves to be sex object

BLONDE Cameron Diaz says she LOVES being seen as a sex object.

Cameron's controversial outburst will have grumpy feminists seething.

But the Hollywood hottie reckons ALL women secretly enjoy being 'objectified'.

The 40-year-old Charlie's Angels babe (above) blurted out: "I think every woman wants to be objectified."

"There's a little part of you at all times that hopes to be somewhat objectified, and I think it's healthy."

"Photoshoots are empowering. I'm not some young girl with the photographer going, 'Will you take your clothes off?' I'm like, 'How does this look?'"

"I'm a woman, I know how to handle myself. I know what I feel comfortable doing and I know my sexuality."

Pensioner is filmed taking dump in his motor

A MAN who was filmed using the back seat of his car as a TOILET has been described as 'disgusting' by police.

The filthy fella was captured on CCTV defecating in his motor in broad daylight at a petrol station.

After dumping on his back seat he then picked up the faeces and dropped them on the forecourt by one of the pumps before driving off.

Staff at the garage were alerted at around 1pm and cleaned up the mess.

The man had bought a pasty in the garage shop and eaten it before using the bag as toilet tissue. He then smoked a fag before driving off.

A police spokesman said: "Although he later apologised, this was a truly disgusting act. Fortunately, the staff were able to clear up the mess before anybody trod in it."

The dirty 76-year-old, from Sidmouth, Devon, has been issued with an £80 penalty notice after dumping his poo on a garage forecourt in Seaton.

Rob Gibbons, of the service station, said: "We've been here for 33 years and in all that time I have never seen anyone defecate on a forecourt."

"We're calling him 'the bloke who took a dump on the pump'."

Eddie's ready for killer role

CROSS-DRESSING comic Eddie Izzard will play a deranged serial killer in the new Hannibal Lecter TV series.

Eddie (above), 50, has agreed to make a guest appearance as an unhinged inmate at the Baltimore State Hospital for the Criminally Insane in forthcoming thriller Hannibal.

His character claims to be "the infamous Chesapeake Ripper" – a serial killer who removes his victims' organs.

An Insider revealed: "It's a great role for Eddie. This guy is a really nasty piece of work."

The forthcoming drama will focus on flesh-eating psychiatrist Hannibal Lecter – played by Casino Royale baddie Mads Mikkelsen – before his eventual capture.

The EU want to ban Paddington Bear, Famous Five and our glamour babes. And Eurocrats want to let in MILLIONS more immigrants to take YOUR job. There's only one thing for it...

GET BRITAIN OUT OF EUROPE NOW!

MEDDLING eurocrats want to strip away yet more British identity by BANNING cultural icons like the FAMOUS FIVE, PADDINGTON BEAR – and even the Sport's gorgeous GLAMOUR BABES.

What's more, the eurocrats want to throw open the doors for even MORE immigrants.

Hairy-legged Brussels prodnoses have decided that 'gender stereotyping' in schools prevents girls from going on to get good jobs.

In their minds that means books which portray 'traditional' images of mothers caring for their kids or fathers going out to work could be BARRED from schools under their proposals.

Childhood heroes such as cuddly Paddington and Enid Blyton's five young adventurers could fall foul of the new rules, and it could even lead to the mass burnings of offending titles in scenes echoing the Nazis' bonfires of "subversive literature" in 1930s Germany.

Worst of all for fun-loving Sport readers, the Orwellian European Parliament's Committee on Women's Rights and Gender Equality could even ban "Page 3"-style glamour pics in newspapers.

Problem

They tromboned, "Negative gender stereotypes can have significant influence on young women's confidence and self-esteem, particularly on teenagers, resulting in a restriction of their aspirations, choices and possibilities for future career possibilities".

Calling for yet MORE EU 'legislation' to tackle the problem, they add: "Despite the EU's commitment to equality between men and women, there is still a gap in legislation for non-discrimination against women and gender equality in the areas of social security, education and the media, emphasising the need for new legislation in these areas".

Tim Aker, spokesman for the eurosceptic Get Britain Out campaign, said: "This is the EU at its most wasteful."

"While the Eurozone is crumbling, millions are out of work and a generation of young Europeans face a bleak future, the EU thinks it's appropriate to try and cover up Page 3 girls and get 50/50 quotas in all occupations. What with crippling unemployment, the EU is finding it difficult enough to get people into work. It should focus on that before trying to socially engineer the workplace. They should bin these proposals."

Meanwhile, as the EU moves to ban innocent fun, the Brussels body is plotting to throw open borders to millions of residents from outside Europe.

Once inside the EU, the new arrivals would be free to swarm into any member country – the UK included – and could take British jobs, suck up UK benefits and create further burdens on our state schools and hospitals.

A draft report prepared by a group of Euro MPs claims the continent needs more immigrant workers because of the economic pressures caused by Europe's ageing population.

The document urges "a common European system to identify labour market needs, with a view to the improved targeting and management of labour migration".

The document estimates the working age population of Europe will fall by 14 million over the next 10 years, and labour shortages could include up to 700,000 vacancies in information technology by 2015.

Quit

But the proposals last night triggered fears that we'll be hit by another population surge that will wreck the Government's attempt at restricting annual net immigration.

Tim Aker said: "While we are in the EU we don't have control over our borders, Brussels does."

"This shows they don't care about our unemployed, who face more competition for British jobs due to mass immigration."

"If you want to get more jobs and control of our borders, we have got to QUIT the EU."

Mr Aker added: "Already the UK is seeing net immigration remain over 200,000 per year."

"This new EU plan will be little consolation for the million young unemployed Brits facing even more competition for jobs."

X Factor Chris blasts Twitter death threats

X FACTOR hopeful Christopher Maloney has blasted fans who sent him online "death threats" on Twitter.

Some viewers were furious that favourite Ella Henderson got the boot while he made it through.

The customer service advisor, 34, said: "It's a singing comp - now getting death threats. What's the world coming to?"

Sixteen-year-old Ella's departure caused shockwaves after she proved to be the least popular contestant after show judges took the decision to "deadlock".

The outcome left some fans claiming the show was a "fix".

Others posted death threats aimed at Chris and suggested that he should kill himself.

The singer later said he was going to take a break from Twitter "for a bit", adding: "Need to concentrate on my songs for this week."

Show bosses have spoken to Maloney and are seeking guidance on whether he wishes to refer it to police.

'Monkey' yob gets UK ban

A FOOTBALL yob who hurled a volley of racist abuse at Manchester City star Mario Balotelli - including calling him a "monkey" during a Premier League match - has been banned from every ground in the UK.

Stoke City fan Terence Jones, 36, repeatedly abused the 22-year-old player for 40 minutes during Stoke City's 1-1 draw at the Britannia Stadium on September 15. JPs were told.

North Staffordshire Magistrates' Court heard that Jones was at the game with his two children and had drunk two pints of beer before the game.

Jones, from Stoke-on-Trent, admitted engaging in and taking part in chanting of a racist nature.

He was banned from going to any football match in Britain for three years as well as being fined £370.

ATTACK OF THE MONSTER RATS!

SCARY: Rats get bigger... and can't be killed

Giant rodents swarm over UK

BRITAIN is swarming with a new plague of mutant SUPER RATS!

Worried experts reckons a new breed of critters boast a genetic mutation that makes them immune to pest-control poison.

The disease-carrying rodents are also growing to unheard of sizes as they run amok in both urban and rural areas of the UK.

Now Dr Alan Buckle, from the University of Reading, has launched an urgent study into the furry beasts.

He said: "All rats tend to carry various life-threatening diseases, and these anticoagulant-resistant rats carry the same diseases but are very difficult to control."

A swarm of super rats has recently invaded the swanky town of Henley-on-Thames, which hosts the annual Royal Regatta, having migrated from parts of Berkshire and Hampshire.

Meanwhile Bradford, in West Yorkshire, has also seen an invasion of 30-INCH LONG rats - twice the size of common types - which are also resistant to toxins used by local authorities and professional pest controllers, farmers and gamekeepers.

Dr Buckle is calling for the use of poisons which are currently illegal.

He said: "We're not allowed to use them because the regulatory body is worried about their effects on wildlife."

"My view is that we need to use the stronger poisons but we need to tell people how to use them carefully. If we can do that we can solve the problem."

Dr Buckle says the rats can carry illnesses such as Weil's disease, which can be passed to humans. It has flu-like symptoms initially but can lead to jaundice.

He added: "If Weil's disease is not treated, it's very serious. About 40 to 50 people in the UK catch it every year."

Weil's disease killed Andy Holmes, the Olympic rowing champion, in 2010.

Peeping Tom banned from EVERY McDonald's

A PEEPING Tom pervert has been banned from EVERY McDonald's in England and Wales - after he was caught spying on two women in the restaurant's TOILETS.

Creepy Sukhbir Singh, 32, sneaked into the ladies' loos at a busy city centre branch of the fast food giant to ogle the victims.

Magistrates were told Singh hid in the cubicles at the bustling food outlet before being disturbed by a disgusted customer who alerted staff.

Singh fled but CCTV operators tracked him from the restaurant and his image was passed to police officers.

Copsnicked Singh, from Handsworth, Birmingham, ten days later after he was recognised at a junction of the M6 motorway.

He was also charged with another offence in the restaurant chain against another victim.

SICK: Pervt Singh (left) spied on women in McDonald's toilets

Singh denied the charges but was found guilty of secretly "observing another person doing a private act for sexual gratification" after a trial at Birmingham Magistrates Court.

Singh was hit with an ASBO which banned him from women's changing rooms, toilets and all 1,200 McDonald's branches in England and Wales.

It is the first time a Peeping Tom has been banned from the fast food chain after committing a sexual offence on the premises.

Singh was also slapped with a six-month conditional discharge and was also handed a 12-month community order, must carry out 100 hours of unpaid work and pay £100 compensation.

HELEN'S JUNGLE NIP SLIP!

By ISOBEL DICKINSON

izzy@sundaysport.co.uk

IT WAS a case of 'I'm a NIPPLE... Get Me Out of Here!' for Helen Flanagan after she accidentally slipped a BOOB out live on TV!

The busty stunna has been wowing fans by donning a string of skimpy bikinis on the ITV1 jungle show.

But former soap star Helen, 23, was left red-faced after her bouncy breasts made a sensational bid for freedom.

The brilliant wardrobe malfunction was caught by the ITV cameras earlier this week – and the snaps immediately spread like wildfire across the internet.

Breathtaking

Even female fans have been bowled over by Helen's outrageous curves.

One fan called 'Christina' wrote on YouTube, "Now THAT's an amazing body! Her boobs...they're simply breathtaking!"

Helen – who shot to fame as Coronation Street minx Rosie Webster – admits she just can't keep her norks under wraps.

Speaking about the cleavage pics she posts on Twitter, Helen said: "I'm a young girl, all young girls do that. I love getting dressed up, made up and posing."

The footage was first screened on the ITV2 spin-off I'm a Celebrity Get Me Out of Here Now, which follows the main show.

An ITV1 source added: "Keep up the good work, Helen!"

POSH toff Hugo Taylor nearly sh*t his expensive pants yesterday in his first trial.

The 26-year-old lists his phobias as 'small spaces, the underground and spiders'.

So he was bang out of luck after being voted to take part in the Savage Sewer challenge, which saw him crawling into a TUNNEL surrounded by spiders, snakes, toads, crabs and rats.

The result was being kept a secret until tonight's show but host Dec Donnelly said: "He did all right. The celebrities will be happy."

But co-host Ant McPartlin said: "There were a few girlie screams."

Drunk Wolves star hit medics after 15 pints

A CHAMPIONSHIP footballer escaped jail for a "despicable" drunken assault on two women paramedics.

Adam Hammill, 24, who is on loan to Huddersfield from Wolves, was sentenced to 12 weeks prison suspended for 12 months at Liverpool Magistrates Court.

Hammill – who had consumed up to 15 pints of lager and several shots of vodka or Amaretto – was arrested outside a bar in Liverpool during the early hours of October 7.

Paramedics were called after the former Liverpool youth player collapsed inside Moniques nightclub.

He was carried out by bouncers and ambulance staff Sky Armstrong and Tracy Northey came to his assistance.

But when they tried to put him in a wheelchair, he lashed out and spat blood.

Hammill, from Bootle, Liverpool, pleaded guilty to two counts of assault at an earlier hearing.

He was fined and ordered to pay costs.

Women want affairs instead of haircuts

LADIES are turning to steamy affairs to help them look and feel younger, according to new research.

A poll found women are ditching traditional methods to boost their self-confidence – such as a trip to a spa or a haircut – by going behind their partner's back.

And of 700 women on extra-marital dating site Illicit Encounters, more than a third confessed they joined to find a man who would make them feel sexy and confident.

But for some scheming ladies, the second most popular reason for playing away was "for the thrill of it" while 15 per cent simply said they were looking for "more sex".

Other reasons for having an extra-marital tryst were curiosity, boredom with their current situation and the desire to feel in love again.

And the busty brunette used to advise her kinky clients to get extra thrills by sticking their sex toys on top on the washing machine.

Embarrassing

She said: "I told them to stick it on their washing machines during a fast-spin cycle!"

Kym also admitted that women would try out the toys on their noses to see how powerful they would be.

She added: "Women have the same amount of nerve endings on their noses as they do in their private parts.

"So we'd have all these middle-aged women trying out sex toys on their noses!"

Kym also admitted one of the most embarrassing moments of her life was when she got stung by a wasp on her BUM and had to get her ex-hubby – former EastEnders star Jack Ryder – to suck the poison out.

She said: "I was in tears, so Jack had to get the poison out of me."

"Imagine if the paparazzi had got some shots of Jack sucking my bum!"

"I don't think I would have been able to explain that one."

Brits finding refuge from the rat race in their loos

MORE than half of men and women use the toilet as an escape from the fast pace of modern life, according to new research.

A similar number use the loo in front of their partner, though the poll also found many relationships are flushed away because of bad toilet habits.

More than half of those quizzed said they would break up with someone who had bad toilet habits, while 52 per cent use the smallest room to escape from partners, children and work colleagues.

A third of Brits work on the lav, one in four update social media, and 72 per cent say they come up with their best ideas there.

Half of us deem the toilet as the most important household item ahead of a bed (14 per cent), fridge (11 per cent) and washing machine (nine per cent).

Nearly a third have rowed with or left a partner over poor potty etiquette like leaving the seat up, leaving a mess and making noises.

The poll of 1,000 people, commissioned by Domestos, lifts the lid on the nation's potty behaviour.

Television presenter Kim Woodburn, for Domestos, said: "This survey shows how our toilet etiquette is really going down the drain."

NATASHA GIGGS

WIFE of Rhodri Giggs, mistress to his brother Ryan – Natasha has shagged her fair share of footballers.

She had a fling with fresh-faced Danny when he was in the youth team at Man United.

The pair shared sex sessions in between her liaisons with brother-in-law Ryan and Jordan's ex Dwight Yorke.

And the flirty brunette even had a Twitter row with Imogen Thomas, after the Welsh beauty accused Nat of 'shitting on her own doorstep' by having sex with Giggsy.

Moyles begs court for tax privacy deal

MOTOR-MOUTH DJ Chris Moyles has begged a court to keep his tax avoidance private.

The former BBC Radio 1 breakfast show host was outed earlier this month when details of his "aggressive" tax saving scheme were made public.

And it has now been reported that Moyles, 38, asked a tribunal to keep a lid on his dealings as making it common knowledge would infringe his "human rights".

Tax tribunal judge Colin Bishopp rejected his application for a gag as there was an "obvious public interest" in keeping tax cases public.

He added: "The fact that a taxpayer is rich, or that he is in the public eye, does not seem to me to dictate a different approach."

Leeds-born Moyles earned £500,000-a-year at the BBC and used the same tax avoidance scheme as comedian Jimmy Carr.

The court said there was no suggestion that Mr Moyles had acted illegally.

Cheated-on girls get their own back

WOMEN are getting their own back on cheating partners - by sleeping with their man's BOSS!

That's just one of the tactics girls use after discovering their fella has been up to no good.

The knicker-dropping trend was uncovered in an online poll of women called "Sex Vengeance".

Researchers found just how deliciously hot scorned ladies felt when they "used" another man to get back at their deceitful lover.

Most said they took special care selecting the candidates who would get inside their panties.

Some picked pals of hubbies or boyfriends.

Others went so far as to seduce their partner's brother.

And a minority even romped in bed with a husband or boyfriend's employer.

TARRANT BONKS 4 WOMEN IN ONE DAY

By ISOBEL DICKINSON

zy@sundaysport.co.uk

UNLIKELY swordsman Chris Tarrant claims he once shagged FOUR women in a single "bloody good" day.

The Who Wants To Be A Millionaire host says he went SEX-MAD after the break-up of his marriage to first wife Sheila in the 70s.

Former Tiswas presenter Chris, 66, went on a steamy bonk bender to help numb the pain of his separation.

He said: "After we split up women threw themselves at me. I went through a strange patch. I was horribly single, famous, with blond hair."

"I slept with four women once. I didn't sleep with them - I was awake the whole time."

"I'm not proud of it, but it was a bloody good day!"

The former Capital Radio breakfast DJ also admitted he once signed his autograph on a woman's boobs - and a man's COCK - during a public appearance in Great Yarmouth.

Breasts

He added: "People were shouting, 'sign the tits', so I signed these rather pimply breasts."

"Then a Scotsman whipped out his old chap and they shouted, 'sign the willy!'"

"So I did. I wish I'd had a fountain pen."

"God almighty. The things you do."

"I'm immune to fame because I've done this for so long."

"I've signed millions of autographs."

Chris also admitted he always hated fellow TV presenter Sir Jimmy Savile - who has been accused of abusing more than 300 women during the height of his fame as a host on

BBC1 show Jim'll Fix It. Chris added: "It's disgusting."

"I heard about Jimmy Savile - I met him twice and found him deeply unpleasant."

"God knows why none of it came out before."

"The farce is the bastard's dead. It should be revealed, but I'm not sure we're achieving much."

Tarrant divorced his second wife Ingrid Dupre-Walsh in 2007.

I WENT to a party at the weekend - and everybody was doing It Gangnam Style! It's unbelievable. All my friends just can't get enough of that weird video by the South Korean rapper PSY.

And I must admit they soon got me hooked. Helped along by a few glasses of wine, I took centre stage doing my raunchy version of the horse-riding-style dance.

Gangnam Style is great - but I still prefer doggy style!

AS EX-EVERTON STARLET IS JAILED FOR DRUG DEALING

The Goodison, & the ugly

SOMETHING eerie is happening on the blue side of Merseyside's famous Stanley Park.

While Everton fans are enjoying seeing their team in the spotlight as the Toffees revel in their best first half of the season for years, elsewhere dark shadows are looming.

For despite the Blues peering loftily down from their perch in fifth place at arch-rivals Liverpool languishing in mid-table, a worrying question is being asked: Is the club cursed?

Earlier this month, Everton's former striker Michael Branch was jailed for SEVEN YEARS after admitting selling drugs.

Branch, who also played for Manchester City, Birmingham City and Wolves, appeared at Chester Crown Court where he pleaded guilty to two charges.

By JUSTIN DUNN

justin@sundaysport.co.uk

The 34-year-old, whose last club was Northern Premier League side Burscough, was charged with handing over just under 3kg of amphetamine to another man in a car park in Liverpool.

The second charge was related to the seizure of 1kg of high purity cocaine from his home in Otterspool on the Liverpool waterfront.

Branch made his debut for the Everton first team in 1996 when he was just 18 and won one England Under-21 cap.

The striker was sold to Wolves in 2000 for £500,000. His playing career ended with Burscough in 2010.

Here, Midweek Sport tries to answer the "cursed" question by looking at the misfortune other Goodison stars brought upon themselves.

BILLY KENNY COCAINE ADDICT GOT SACK

YOUNG Billy Kenny was once dubbed the "Goodison Gazza" by ex-Everton player Peter Beardsley – which would turn out to be a spooky prediction.

The son of former Blues midfielder Billy Kenny Snr, Billy rose through the ranks of Everton's youth system before making his debut in a 1-1 home draw against Coventry in 1992.

In total he made 17 league appearances for Everton, plus another four appearances in cup competitions.

He scored one goal and was even named man of the match in the Premier League's first-ever Merseyside derby.

But then he suffered shin splints which prevented him playing – and he was soon looking elsewhere for entertainment.

After testing positive for alcohol and cocaine, the Everton hierarchy placed him in rehab.

But it failed to get his Goodison career back on track and the then manager Mike Walker would later sack him for gross misconduct.

He joined Oldham Athletic, then managed by former Everton striker Graeme Sharp, but was sacked after just four appearances.

Billy then retired from professional football aged just 21.

He said later: "I was completely hooked on coke. I needed it just to get by. I was an addict and a complete mess."

"It got so bad that I wasn't even interested in whether Everton were winning or losing. Some Monday mornings I got home at four or five o'clock, had a couple of lines of coke, slept for an hour or so, then got a cab to the training ground.

"I looked a complete mess. I could blame a million people for it, but it was all down to me."

MARK WARD - JAILED FOR POSSESSING COCAINE

FORMER Everton midfielder Mark Ward says "there are no excuses" for the actions that led him to spending FOUR YEARS behind bars.

Ward, now 50, was jailed in 2005 after cocaine with a street value of £645,000 was found at a home rented in his name.

He pleaded guilty to possessing cocaine with intent to supply and later released a book about his prison experiences.

"At the end of the day there are no excuses for what I did," he said.

"I made a decision. You live and die by your decisions in life and someone asked me to rent a house out."

"That's all I did, went to the estate agent, rented the house out – four months later I'm in Walton Prison."

Tax

"I got into financial difficulties and became ill after coming back from Australia, having opened a soccer school out there."

"I was approached by someone asking me to rent a house out. Technically I got 12 years, I admitted my guilt for renting this house out for this third party."

"You get a third off [for admitting guilt], so that's eight years – and I served four years."

He added: "Two grand a week was a lot of money in the late 80s and early 90s, but after tax at 40 per cent it's £1,200 and you can go and earn that on a building site as a good electrician these days."

"The players now – like Rooney, Owen, Gerrard, Lampard – when they're finished they'll be worth over £100million."

"They're superstars, they're film stars really."

...IS THE CLUB CURSED? the bad

ANDY VAN DER MEYDE SEX, DRUGS AND BOOZE BINGES

ANDY VAN DER MEYDE'S Everton career was ruined by sex, drugs and booze.

The Dutch international moved to Goodison from Inter Milan for £2million in 2005 on a four-year deal that would earn him a whopping £6.24m.

But in an astonishing autobiography, Van der Meyde tells how he became addicted to drugs and stole pills from the Everton club doctor – and regularly got drunk on beer, wine and spirits.

Van der Meyde, 33, admitted: "They offered me £30,000 a week – more than double my pay at Inter Milan."

The midfielder was quick to sign and quick to spend his mega wages. He confessed: "I bought a Ferrari and first stop was the News Bar, a popular place in Liverpool."

"After a couple of hours of alcohol I drove to the nearest strip club. Getting drunk in a strip club in the middle of Liverpool was not very smart. But I had a strong longing for naked women."

"I saw a brunette and I wanted to have sex with her. But after I'd had sex with Lisa once I was addicted. She was wild, crazy and horny."

The affair cost him his marriage as wife Diana hired a private detective.

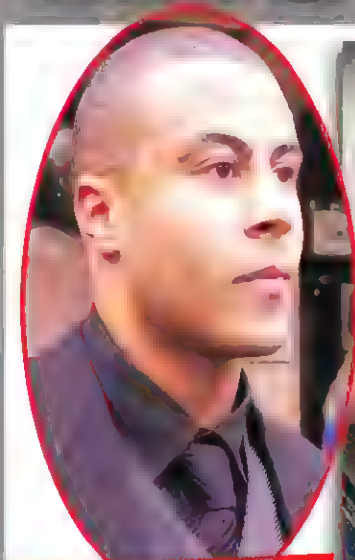

Things really hit rock bottom when his Goodison deal ran out in 2009. He said: "My buddies had the solution – cocaine."

"I took cocaine and liquor and in Liverpool you can party seven nights a week."

"It is a life-threatening city if you can't put up your own boundaries. I realised Liverpool could become my death so I had to leave."

CHANGING FACE: Van der Meyde, left, was all smiles when he arrived at Everton

DANNY CADAMARTERI PUNCHED WOMAN

IN September 2001, Danny Cadamarteri was found guilty of assault after punching a young woman in a late night fracas.

Judge David Lynch told Liverpool Crown Court that he had "no doubt" that the Everton striker, 21, punched Joeline Joel to the ground – but said he would not be imposing a custodial sentence because it was not an unprovoked attack.

Cadamarteri, now 33, had pleaded not guilty to punching Miss Joel, 25, who suffered a suspected fractured cheekbone.

After being found guilty, he admitted he was "ashamed" about the incident.

The jury at Liverpool Crown Court saw Miss Joel weep as she described how Cadamarteri and two friends followed her and a female companion and demanded they perform a sex act.

Fist

She explained that her friend, Christine Walmsley, had told the men to "grow up" but they continued to follow close behind.

She said: "One of them got right behind me, intimidatingly close. When we turned round they were nearly on top of us."

"Some things got said and the next thing I heard was 'give her a dig, Danny' and I saw his fist coming towards me and he hit me."

Cadamarteri left the scene of the assault and attended a police station four days later. He initially denied being involved in any confrontation and asked his two friends to lie for him.

Ten months later he admitted striking Miss Joel but insisted he had been trying to push her away in self-defence and accidentally hit her face with the heel of one hand.

Cadamarteri was found guilty and fined £2,000 – and Everton then announced he was free to leave Goodison.

He now plays for Carlisle United in League One.

TOLD TO PERFORM SEX ACT: Joeline Joel

JOSE BAXTER - ARRESTED IN 'DRUGS BUST'

FROM teenage sensation to career-threatened footballer is quite a journey for 20-year-old Jose Baxter to have made.

Just a few years ago he was being dubbed the 'new Wayne Rooney', another star forward to emerge from the ranks of the Everton youth system.

But right now he is a player trying to salvage his career, a little over two months into a four-month contract with Oldham Athletic and actively aiming to secure a permanent move much further down the football pyramid.

Perhaps the Everton 'curse' struck when Baxter was one of three men arrested in October 2009 in Kirkby on suspicion of possession of cannabis with intent to supply and on suspicion of possessing counterfeit money.

Baxter was subsequently released without charge – but his career went into freefall. Baxter denied any wrongdoing.

He certainly had potential on the pitch. During his late teens he broke goalscoring records at international youth level and even surpassed the records that Rooney had achieved at academy level.

But the leap from the youth system to the Premier League is one that even the most gifted of young footballers can sometimes fail to make.

Baxter's future was still looking bright when in January of this year he was recalled to Everton from a short loan spell at Tranmere and offered a new contract at Goodison. To the surprise of many fans the two-year deal was rejected by the player, who stated his desire to leave the club in search of regular first-team football.

But after a month-long trial with Crystal Palace he was deemed unfit and not offered a contract – and the best he could manage is his short-term deal at Oldham.

Booze session left me floored, admits Hatton

BOXER Ricky Hatton says he was once so PISSED he fell asleep on a hotel reception floor thinking it was his BED.

The Hitman – who pulls on the gloves again this weekend after three years in retirement – has had a well-publicised battle with booze and drugs.

And he's confessed that he was once so wasted he passed out in a posh hotel's lobby.

Ricky, 34, said: "I came back to this hotel after dinner. Anyhow, it's late. I go to sleep. The noise of a Hoover wakes me up."

"I say 'excuse me, I didn't ask for room service' and a voice says, 'sir, you are not in your room, you're in reception.'"

Ricky also revealed his fans are shocked that he still buys his groceries from Asda.

He added: "I shop at Asda. People say, 'Ricky – what are you doing in here?' I think, where do you expect me to go?"

Hatton takes on ex-welterweight champ Vyacheslav Senchenko at Manchester's MEN Arena on Saturday.

Triathlon benefit cheat dodges jail

A DISABILITY welfare scrounger nicknamed "Fit as a Fiddler" after he was caught completing a 34-mile triathlon has avoided a prison term.

Anthony Connor, 39, said a debilitating stroke left him with a limp and he could only walk 75 metres in five minutes.

He pocketed over £17,000 in state handouts after saying he needed help getting in and out of the bath and getting up and down the stairs.

But Connor's luck ran out when investigators filmed him swimming, cycling and running for a total of 55km during the Tatton Park triathlon in Knutsford, Cheshire.

Connor, from Baguley, Greater Manchester admitted failing to notify the DWP of a change of circumstances.

He was given a 12-week prison sentence, suspended for a year.

Oh my CoD, it's a record!

A COMPUTER games fan battled to a new world record by playing Call of Duty: Black Ops 2 for five-and-a-half DAYS.

Okan Kaya, 28, played the hit game for 135 hours and 50 minutes – smashing the previous record for continuous gaming, which stood at 120 hours and seven minutes.

Okan, of Sydney, Australia, began his epic session on Tuesday. He was allowed a 10-minute break every hour and kept his energy up with sports drinks and light meals.

The online sales manager said: "My hands were cramping up and I went through a lot of bandages."

"I even tried to 'pad up' my controller."

Guinness allowed the breaks to be stored up and taken at once so Okan was able to sleep for hours at a time.

Eight million copies of Call of Duty: Black Ops 2 were sold on its opening day last week – netting its makers £300million.

Hare-brained gym thief caught by wig

A DIM-WITTED thief got caught after leaving a wig he wore as a disguise at the crime scene.

Paul Hughes, 45, made £28,000 by breaking into gym lockers in Southampton, Hants, and Salisbury, Wilts, and stealing punters' bank cards and driving licenses.

He would then rush to nearby banks, withdraw as much cash as possible and go gambling and stay in hotels using fake names.

But he left his wig disguise behind and cops traced him by DNA they found on the hairpiece.

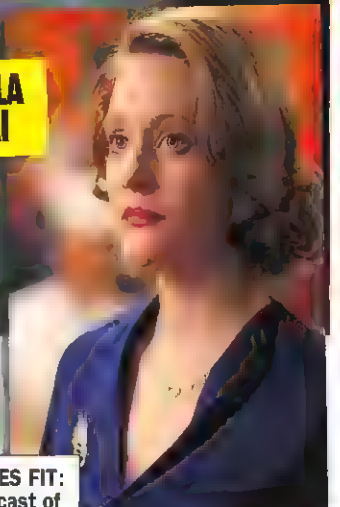

Hughes, from Coventry, West Mids, pleaded guilty to conspiracy at Winchester Crown Court and was jailed for four years.

BBC2 retro drama stars have topless pasts

By JUSTIN DUNN justn@sundaysport.co.uk

HERE'S the boobs you WON'T see if you're tuning in to watch The Hour on BBC2 tonight.

The 1950s TV newsroom drama is now in its second series and stars Romola Garai as a pretty studio producer.

Romola, 30, keeps her kit on throughout the series, which weaves relationships within the TV station with news reports of events at the time.

But that wasn't the case in last year's four-part mini-series Crimson Petal And The White, however – when the Hong Kong-born actress played a prostitute called Sugar.

Romala is seen romping TOPLESS with Chris O'Dowd, who played a wealthy married man fond of having a bit on the side.

Her co-stars Juliet Stevenson and Anna Chancellor have also stripped for the cameras.

Revealing

Anna, 47, who has also appeared in Spooks and Four Weddings And A Funeral, peeled off for a sex scene in ITV's The Vice in 1999.

While Juliet, 56, who had roles in Bend It Like Beckham and Truly, Madly, Deeply, has gone topless and naked several times for acting roles.

Our snap shows her revealing her norks in 1995's The Policeman's Wife.

One production source said: "When they walk on to the set of the pretend telly newsroom, we're sometimes tempted to make a noise like the ITN bongos!"

MASTERCHEF JOHN'S A LUCKY COOKER!

Any chance of seconds?

Telly chef's new babe has great boobs and LOVES sex

By ISOBEL DICKINSON
zz@sundaysport.co.uk

TELLY chef John Torode is in for a tasty treat with new squeeze Lisa Faulkner.

She has mouthwatering morsels that are well worth drooling all over!

What's more, gorgeous Lisa has also bragged about owning SEX TOYS!

Foodie John – who first met Lisa when she was crowned winner of Celebrity Masterchef in 2010 – has wooed the stunning former Holby City actress since her split from husband, Chris Hoghill.

And John's bedroom will be as hot as his kitchen, judging by lusty Lisa's sizzling confessions.

Lisa, 40, said: "I have a nice thing called 'Jessica' – as in Jessica Rabbit.

"It's a vibrator with wiggly ears at the top.

"Me and the girls have all got one. We bought them for each other."

Lover

Sexy Lisa isn't afraid of stripping off either, having bared her perky breasts on holiday in Mallorca in 2000, and also going nude for 1992 movie The Lover.

Racy former Spooks star Lisa also once simulated masturbation in BBC3 series Burn It.

The blonde babe struck up a friendship with John, 47, when she started working at his restaurant – Smith's in Smithfield, London – back in April this year.

They have also appeared together on BBC1's The Food Factory and on the Christian O'Connell breakfast show, Manbake on Absolute Radio.

Taxi burgle gang jailed for 19 years

A TAXI driver who tipped off his criminal friends so they could burgle the homes of the people he picked up has been jailed.

Kasid Hussain, 27, told gang pals on 10 different occasions when the properties were empty.

They stole thousands of pounds worth of electrical items and jewellery before making off in the homeowner's car.

Hussain and five of his associates – all from Nottingham – were jailed for almost 19 years in total after admitting burglary or conspiracy to commit burglary offences.

Detective Sergeant Paul Cash, of Nottinghamshire Police, said: "It was an abuse of a position of trust, with unsuspecting fares chatting to him about their plans, and not realising they were setting themselves up."

At Nottingham Crown Court Hussain pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit burglary between August 5 and October 10 last year and was jailed for 53 months.

Squat for the perfect dump!

POO-HAPPY Brits are being urged to SQUAT when they take a dump.

Experts reckon that when we sit on a toilet our body isn't aligned properly.

And a firm have launched lavatory foot stools that enable users to adopt a squat position while squeezing one out.

A Squatty Potty spokesman said: "Our modern day toilets aren't designed for squatting."

"Because of the anorectal angle being in a kinked position while sitting you are forced to strain in order to move the bowels – the main cause of haemorrhoids."

"While squatting, the angle straightens out allowing the fecal matter to eliminate quickly and easily without straining."

Elevating your feet to plop can also prevent constipation and prevent colon disease, according to the turd boffins.

GAGA'S CREAM BUNS

Pop babe's sexy romp with CAKE

FINGER LICKIN' GOOD: Gaga can't resist a quick swallow

TASTY singer Lady Gaga clearly likes to have her cake and SHAG it – after bonking a creamy treat on camera!

The pop star writhes around in a giant sponge in the official video for her new appropriately titled song Cake.

In the footage the busty babe, 26, appears to hump the gigantic dessert while dressed in nothing but her bra and knickers.

The singer – aka Stefani Germanotta – looks good enough to eat as she poses on all fours.

And the steamy 20 second teaser clip also shows Gaga enjoying a slippery bathtime romp with two scantily-clad stunnas – the babes even rubbing a creamy mixture onto Gaga's bare bum cheeks!

By ISOBEL DICKINSON

izzy@sundaysport.co.uk

And the Paparazzi warbler then strips topless, revealing her skimpy thong while relaxing in a hot tub.

She wrote on Twitter: "The real CAKE isn't HAVING what you want. It's DOING what you want."

Meanwhile a showbiz insider said: "Gaga is known for her risqué videos but this is definitely her rudest to date...by a country mile!"

The clip was shot by acclaimed New York fashion photographer Terry Richardson, 47, who has convinced a string of sexy celebs to bare all for him during his eye-popping career.

Boob groping minister only fined £1,000

A FORMER Sri Lankan government minister has been found guilty of sexual assault after GROPING a beautician during a Swedish full body massage.

Tudor Gunasekara, 77, grabbed the 25-year-old woman's breast after offering her a "big tip" in a luxury spa.

She was so shocked she immediately pressed a panic alarm and fled weeping into a storeroom.

The wealthy businessman and former ambassador tried to cover up his crime by accusing her of offering sexual services and stealing a £100 fee.

Gunasekara, of Carshalton, Surrey, denied sexual assault.

But he was found guilty at the Old Bailey and ordered to pay more than £5,000 costs plus £1,000 compensation.

Judge Charles Wide QC blasted his false claims, and said: "You offered her money in the hope she would let you touch her. You grabbed her breast. It was obviously very very upsetting for her."

Toastie assault dad locked up

A DRUNK dad has been jailed for head-butting his partner when they rowed over a CHEESE TOASTIE.

Keith Macdonald, 27, who has fathered nine children by eight different women, was found guilty of assaulting his former girlfriend Stephanie Jubb at their home in East Rainton, Co Durham.

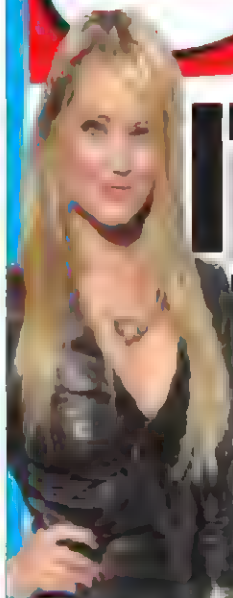

Macdonald, who had been drinking, went to go upstairs to eat a toastie, where Ms Jubb, 24, had just hoovered and as the pair rowed, he threw the snack and shouted: "F it" before assaulting her.

He then took £80 and her mobile phone and pulled a Wii console from its socket during the row.

Macdonald, who also admitted a charge of absconding for not appearing at an earlier court hearing, was given 20 weeks in prison and ordered to stay away from Ms Jubb.

X FACTOR is getting ridiculous now – I was totally shocked when Ella Henderson (left) was voted off on Sunday.

That's what happens when people get behind acts like Rylan Clark.

He is entertaining, but he can barely sing. I've heard stray cats warble better than him.

How on earth is he still in the competition while Ella – a girl with unbelievable natural talent – is out?

It was car crash TV. And like any accident, you wonder how long X Factor will be able to survive churning out sh*t like this.

Fawning

Simon Cowell needs to get his arse back to the UK, stop fawning over the American show and start paying more attention to our version.

Because it's going to the dogs and I for one won't be tuning in next year.

Ella is better off OUT of the show. The longer it goes on the crappier it is getting, and her reputation might have taken a bigger knock had she stayed in it.

She's still only 16. She's got the world at her feet.

At least she can now go and sign with a proper record label and become a massive star.

SHE'S FIT... BUT ALSO ANNOYING!

AS a girl with lovely big boobs, I know I should be supporting Helen Flanagan.

But having watched every episode of her in action on telly show I'm a Celebrity...Get Me Out Of Here!, I honestly can't believe how ANNOYING she is.

I mean, I know she's fit. Her breasts are incredible – I could play with those puppies all day long.

But she's the biggest wimp I have ever witnessed and I just don't understand what she is doing on the show in the first place.

It's like someone with a fear of heights agreeing to climb the world's tallest ladder – you just wouldn't put yourself through it.

Her footballer boyfriend Scott Sinclair, the lad who plays for Manchester City, must be cringing at the way she's behaving.

I bet he's having the piss ripped out of him by the other Man City players.

Helen has made herself look like an idiot and you can tell the other celebs on the show are starting to lose their patience with her.

Where is her fighting spirit? She just doesn't seem to have one.

And I think she's selfish. She has proved she is not a team player because she didn't even seem that bothered about not winning any stars during the challenges.

Bimbo

The rest of the camp were all starving and yet she didn't seem to care about it. She wasn't even bothered about letting them all down.

And, worst of all, she seems like a total diva. She's giving us girls with big boobs a bad name!

She is real bimbo and it seems to me as though she is on a completely different planet to the rest of the world.

To me, it looks like she's been wrapped in cotton wool for far too long. She needs to grow up and stop acting like a tart!

WHAT A PAIR:
Helen and Scott

REDLIGHT Central has been really busy this week and I am loving every minute of it.

On Sunday night I decided to try something different with my outfit and I wore this pair of skin-tight black wet look leggings.

I was a bit worried about how they would go down because my whole legs were covered!

Most of the girls on Redlight wear the skimpiest outfits you can imagine and I started panicking about being so covered up.

Compliments

But they went down a storm and I was really busy. I had loads of compliments – I think people quite liked seeing something a bit different!

Every week I get busier and I think it is down to you lovely Sport readers who read my column each week!

I will be on again on Sunday and Monday (November 25 & 26) so make sure you don't miss it because there will be more delights in store!

Don't forget to tune in – Sky Channel 932 from 10pm to 5.30am.

Lesbo cherry will be glovely

I'M going to be popping another girl's cherry tomorrow...and I can't wait!

Yep, I'll be heading into the studio for a little girl-on-girl action with an up-and-coming model who has NEVER done anything like this before.

Now, I can't tell you her name yet. It's got to be our little secret for now.

But what I can tell you is that I've seen a picture of her, and she is HOT! Drop dead gorgeous, actually, and I can't wait to show her the ropes!

I've already had an extra wax down below to make sure I am looking in perfect condition, and I've been out and bought myself a brand new dildo for the occasion!

I'm moist just thinking about it...

As if that wasn't good enough, we've got a stylist coming along with a suitcase full of really expensive lingerie and designer shoes. Heaven!

I have asked for an old-fashioned 1930s theme, so there will be a lot of lace and long gloves.

I am really into wearing gloves at the moment and I didn't realise how many men love them.

It's going to be amazing!

Tulisa will be the loser

ANOTHER thing that's fking me off about The X Factor is Tulisa Contostavlos – she's partly to blame for Ella getting the boot.

I think people didn't vote for Ella purely because Tulisa is her mentor.

The tide is turning. Britain is definitely falling out of love with the former N-Dubz singer.

When I saw in the papers that Tulisa has allegedly stolen another woman's boyfriend – the Newcastle footballer Danny Simpson – I was outraged.

If that is the case, then it's disgusting – Danny's poor ex is pregnant and they have another little girl as well.

Women just shouldn't do that to other women. What happened to girl power?

There is an unwritten rule that you just don't nick another woman's man.

If you meet someone and they have a girlfriend then you walk away and leave them to it.

Protest

I bet there are a lot of people out there who agree with me and probably didn't vote for Ella in protest at Tulisa.

And mark my words

– Tulisa is setting herself up for a fall.

Once a cheater, always a cheater. Tulisa will be sorry when Danny dumps her for another woman.

I've got a funny feeling that Danny's ex will get the last laugh. And Tulisa will get her comeuppance.

For starters, I can't see her being back on X Factor again next year – if there's an X Factor at all!

DISGRACE?

ET turns up in TV Mac's back garden

TELLY comic Michael McIntyre evacuated his family to a makeshift bunker when he discovered a giant 'alien' in his garden!

The Comedy Roadshow star revealed his horror when his wife, Kitty, glimpsed the creature on the CCTV cameras at their North London home.

Michael (above), 36, was adamant they were visited by ETs until the obvious explanation was pointed out.

He said: "I'm not kidding. Kitty phoned me in a panic so I had a look and she was right - there was a fing alien in my back garden."

"I showed it to Grazio, my tour manager, and if I hadn't spoken to him I would never have worked it out because I have no logic in my head."

"An insect had landed on the camera lens, which made it look like a six-foot alien."

"I had to call my wife back, but by then she was hiding and the children were upstairs in a makeshift panic room."

Tea break tug perv caught on camera

A FARMHAND harassed an office worker during tea breaks - pleasuring himself up to 60 TIMES as the woman sat just a few feet away.

Loner Colin Patch, 63, faces jail after admitting having sexual feelings for the woman after her marriage broke up.

She set up a webcam to gather evidence against Patch.

Before the woman's marriage failed, Patch, who had worked on the farm for 30 years, used to exchange pleasantries with her, said prosecutor Lindsey Baker.

He admitted to police pleasuring himself "50-60 times" and admitted committing a similar act 30 years before to a previous boss's wife.

Patch, who lives with his mum in Rockbeare, near Exeter, was bailed after admitting harassment without violence.

HEARING: Defence Secretary Phillip Hammond (above left) and Attorney General Dominic Grieve have reviewed the case of SAS hero Danny Nightingale (right)

Attorney-General takes just 40 MINUTES to reject review of Danny's case

By JON LIVESEY

jonl@sundaysport.co.uk

THE case of SAS hero Sgt Danny Nightingale descended into political farce yesterday.

The Defence Secretary asked for a review of his sentence - only to be slapped down by the Government's top law chief just 40 MINUTES later.

Phillip Hammond asked Attorney General, Dominic Grieve, to review the case after thousands of Brits protested at his jailing over a minor firearms offence.

And Mr Grieve took just 40 minutes to slap down his Cabinet colleague's plea.

A spokesman for the Attorney General's office said: "It would be inappropriate for the Attorney General to review either the decision to prosecute or comment on the appropriateness of the sentence."

"That is a matter for the Court Martial Appeal Court, in due course."

The decision caused outrage among thousands of Danny's supporters who took to Twitter to lambast the Attorney General.

Caged

Danny was caged for 18 months by a court martial after he pleaded guilty to possession of a Glock 9mm pistol, given to him by the Iraqi Army.

The hearing was told Danny, 37, had suffered a brain injury and simply forgotten about the weapon - but that didn't stop the Judge Advocate sending him to military jail.

Last week, Midweek Sport launched a campaign to have the dad-of-two freed after the world reacted in outrage to his jailing.

Phil Campion, who served in the 22 SAS Regiment's D Squadron and now works as a private security consultant, is backing our campaign.

Speaking EXCLUSIVELY to Midweek Sport, Phil revealed exactly why he thinks Danny should never have been sent to the stockade and why he should be freed IMMEDIATELY.

He said: "This guy had something in his house that he shouldn't have. So all right, he deserved a bit of a telling off, but he didn't deserve to be fing hung, drawn and quartered."

"If you get offered anything from somebody in a place like Iraq, you take it. You don't offend them by going, 'Oh, there's no point in me taking that.'"

SUPPORT: Former SAS member Phil Campion is backing our campaign

"The truth of it is that it was probably going to be stuffed in the interest room with a little plaque on it to say it was presented to so-and-so in Iraq at whatever time."

"If he's forgotten about it, does that really mean you have to hang the guy?"

"I don't know if people understand the work these guys do, but they can go from the desert to the Arctic at the flick of a switch and from A-to-B in a matter of hours."

"The fact is that he's left it in his kit and forgotten about it - these guys are busy and he'd been down to Brazil and had a hard time."

"So it probably wasn't at the forefront of his mind."

"There's no malice. It's hardly like he was planning to bust out the Bank Of England."

"The punishment should fit the crime."

"Why did it even get to the court martial? To make an example of him? To me, it beggars belief."

"With the bureaucracy of some areas of the Army nowadays, I'm not surprised, but it still pisses me off, because for them to even let it get this far is ridiculous, in my opinion."

Danny's wife Sally has been left to support their two daughters alone in a week when hate preacher Abu Qatada was released on bail and spared from being sent back to Jordan, where he's wanted on terrorism charges.

Phil, who rose to the rank of Staff Sgt in the Army, added: "That makes an absolute mockery out of the whole thing."

"And now Abu Qatada is out there asking for a house. Where does it end?"

"Danny's missus is out there trying to bring up two kids with no wage coming in."

"She's almost likely to be thrown out of her house - and that lunatic is likely to be given one."

Locked up in a military jail in Colchester, Essex, the soldier is said to be "overwhelmed" by the support from the public.

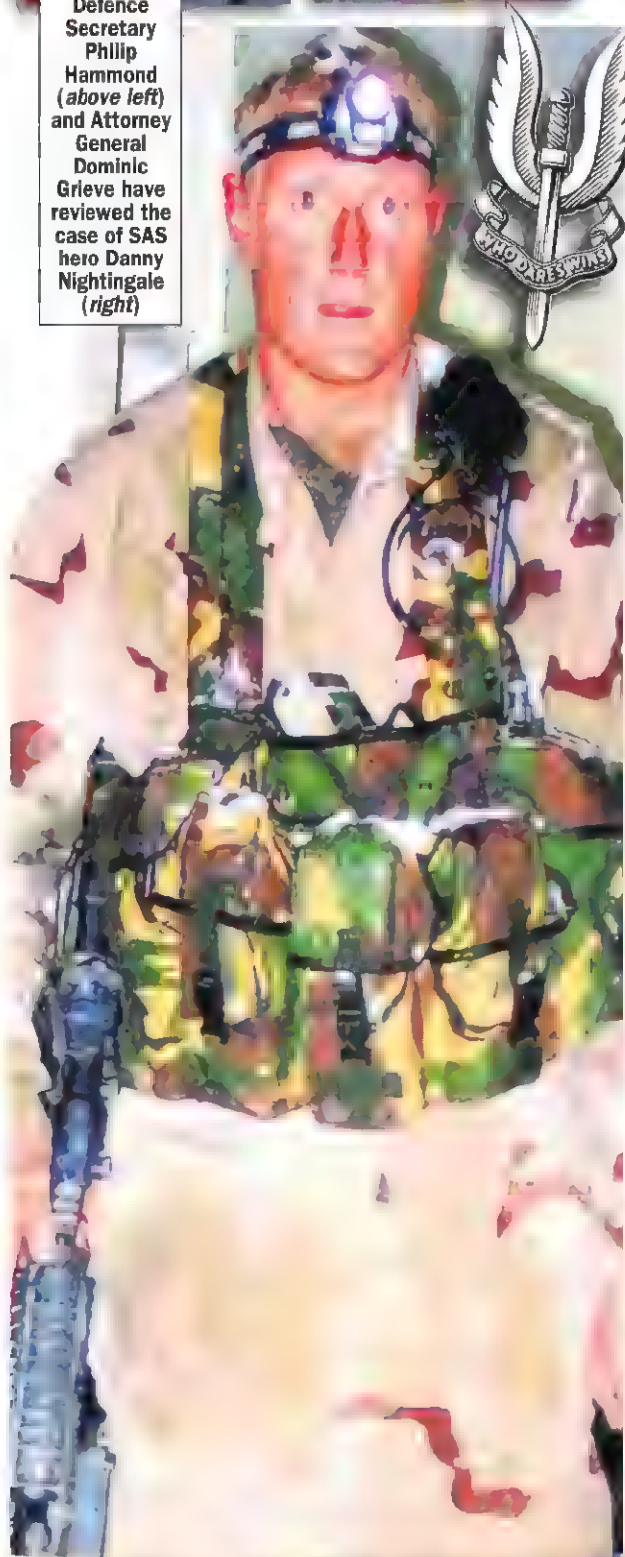

Humbling

His case was set to be debated by MPs in the House of Commons last night.

The debate has been secured by Julian Brazier, MP for Canterbury and Whitstable, who visited Sgt Nightingale on Monday at the Military Corrective Training Centre in Colchester, Essex.

Mr Brazier, a former captain in the SAS reserves, said: "It was humbling in a way to feel that such a guy, who has given so many years service, could have been brought so low by a system of which I am part, the legislature."

"It filled me with a determination that we have to get justice for this guy."

Cougars share top toy boys, says survey

TOYBOYS are much luckier than previously thought, a new survey has revealed.

Because sex-hungry older women are recommending their virile young studs to their friends, according to the study.

And that means many of the lusty lads have snagged themselves a virtual harem of horny older females, who are enjoying no-strings sex encounters, like the cougar Samantha – played by Kim Cattrall – from Sex and the City (above).

The naughty new phenomenon was uncovered in the online survey 'Girls and their Boy Toys' which was commissioned by an internet forum.

The saucy study quizzed 1,618 mucky Mrs Robinson types between the ages of 36 and 48.

And the survey found that most of the nookie-crazed females scouted out potential lovers from the families of friends and colleagues – picking university and college students as the No.1 choice because they were available when husbands and boyfriends were at work.

Some of the brassy babes were even involved in unofficial 'recommend to friends' schemes – so the best between-the-sheets performers were shared around.

Big Bro babe is desperate to go dogging

SEX-mad Big Brother star Sophie Reade has stunned her fans by admitting a lust for DOGGING!

The busty scorcher says she gets off on strangers watching her shag.

And 23-year-old Sophie – who has mammoth 30J-cup boobs – is even game for trying some kinky car park antics.

Sophie, who shot to fame in 2009's Big Brother, said: "I definitely like doing it outside."

Exhibitionist

"I love the idea of being caught. I suppose that's why I wouldn't mind a bit of dogging."

Sophie says she's practiced for her dogging debut by having sex in a neighbour's front garden after a drunken night out.

She admitted: "We were coming home one night and just couldn't wait until we got in the house. It was only when their lights went on that I realised it wasn't my garden. Oops!

Sophie has always been an exhibitionist – when asked what she would do if she was Prime Minister for a day, she famously quipped: "I would get rid of the indecent exposure law so that we could walk around naked in public if we wanted to."

But the busty babe, from Nantwich, Cheshire, claims she's not just a pair of boobs. She said: "Because I get my boobs out for a living people think I'm tacky, an airhead and have no personality."

"But I'm actually quite bright."

Babs' boobs turned Sid into a tosser

RANDY Strictly Come Dancing star Sid Owen admits PLEASURING himself over EastEnders legend Barbara Windsor's boobs.

The actor famously played mechanic Ricky Butcher in the hit BBC1 soap up until January this year.

And the screen grease-monkey says he used to oil his own tool while imagining Babs – aka Walford's Peggy Mitchell – in her Carry On Camping heyday.

Sid, 40, admitted: "I hold my hands up and say 'yes, I did'."

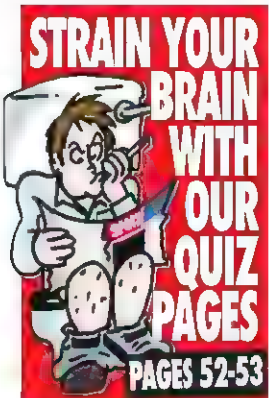

"I'd be there, watching Barbara on freeze frame where her bra flies off and be pumping away."

"Is it hard to work with her every day? No, it's quite pleasurable."

He also admitted he showed women around the Albert Square set to try to convince them to sleep with him.

Sid, who is dancing with Ola Jordan on BBC1's Strictly, added: "It was only with girls I'd been going out with."

"Unfortunately, I don't get in girls' knickers by showing them round the Square!"

Burglar nabbed after sex chat

A BURGLAR was nicked after he used one of his victim's mobile phones to call his girlfriend.

Liam Brown, 24, and others carried out an overnight break-in at a family home in Sunderland on September 2 and made off with a £7,000 car, keys, a handbag and other personal property.

When the householder realised a work mobile phone was missing he contacted his company's IT department and asked for a list of recent calls – which showed Brown had used the stolen handset to ring his partner.

At Newcastle Crown Court Brown, of Sunderland, admitted he had been lookout during the break-in and pleaded guilty to one charge of burglary and asked for six further house raids to be taken into consideration.

He was jailed for four years.

I I'M LUCKY because none of the guys I've been with have been small, but I don't think it matters anyway.

Even men who have bigger willies sometimes don't know what to do with it, so it all depends on how you use it.

Passion is a much bigger turn-on than how deep a man can get.

If a guy has a small willy but knows how to make me feel good, it doesn't matter.

A guy could have the biggest willy in the world, but if he doesn't know how to please me with it, I'm not interested.

I don't think there's anything wrong with having a smaller willy anyway – there's plenty of other things you can do to make a girl feel good.

Heston chefs die in horror taxi collision

TWO senior chefs from Heston Blumenthal's flagship Fat Duck restaurant were killed when their taxi was crushed between two double decker buses in Hong Kong, it has been confirmed.

The men, believed to be Briton Ivan Aranto Herrera Jorge, 34, and 30-year-old Swede Carl Magnus Lindgren, died along with the driver in the collision on Hong Kong Island on Monday.

A spokesman for the Fat Duck said two "uniquely talented" chefs had been killed in the accident, thought to have happened while they were with a team from the Michelin 3-Star restaurant cooking a series of special meals at the Mandarin Oriental Hotel.

A further 56 people were said to have been injured in the accident.

The spokesman added: "They were both senior members and great and dear friends."

TV star Blumenthal (above), famed for his snail porridge and bacon and egg ice cream, founded the posh eatery in Bray, Berks, in 1995.

Elton John pest jailed

A NOISY neighbour was jailed after singing a four-letter version of an Elton John song to the woman next door.

Michael Matthews, 57, blasted I'm Still Standing from his landing to neighbour Linda Davies in a three-year nuisance campaign.

He turned up his stereo to shout: "I'm still standing fhead, yeah yeah yeah."

At Swansea Crown Court he denied being a noise pest, saying: "I am a happy-go-lucky type of guy. All I wanted to do was to make people happy."

But Judge Paul Thomas told him: "Your behaviour over the last three years demonstrated that your true intention has demonstrated exactly the opposite."

Matthews was jailed for eight months for using intimidating words or behaviour.

Channel 4 cult comedy - has bared her boobs on camera.

And she doesn't stop with just her pert knockers - the Puerto-Rican hottie shows off her front bottom too!

A Hollywood insider said: "Getting Nadine to strip was one hell of a coup."

"My Name Is Earl is one of the biggest comedies of the last decade and Nadine's character one of the most popular in it."

"She was also the sexiest - which is saying something because it's also got Jaime Pressley in it and she's well tasty."

In Flight she plays Katerina an air stewardess who's having an affair with Denzel Washington's character - Captain Whit Whittaker.

"She is seen naked as the pair get ready to head off to work after a cocaine and sex session."

● FULL English is a cartoon comedy about a dysfunctional family on Channel 4.

They should do a version for our cousin north of the border – Full Scottish. Pretty similar but the main character is a square.

● SPOILER ALERT re the new series of BBC4 Danish detective thriller The Killing. I have watched it to the end, absorbed every twist and turn and can now reveal the answer to the BIG question on every fan's lips. It is from C&A's 1991 Autumn/Winter range.

The critic who leaves TV bosses quaking

Batchelor ON THE BOX

● THANK God the malicious public have finally stopped picking ex-Corrie babe Helen Flanagan for Bushtucker Trials on I'm A Celebrity Get Me Out Of Here.

That joke was wearing very thin, frankly.

The next time I see footage of her swallowing something horrible, I want it to be shaky mobile phone footage from the Manchester City Christmas party.

As always, the beauty of this show is not the set pieces but the little stuff in between – like Colin Baker and Rosemary Shrager learning the dance moves to a Fussycat Dolls hit.

They could form a tribute act – the Pastry Fat Folds.

BBC1's surprisingly good comedy-drama Last Tango in Halifax is about a pair of pensioners who fall in love.

Celia (Anne Reid) is wealthy but lonely old widow. In other words, she has the "grey pound" but what she really needs is a grey pounding.

Enter lovable widower Alan (Derek Jacobi), a who was at school with Celia. He tracked her down using Facebook, which is probably the only way you can "poke" anyone at his age.

Over coffee and a car chase (don't ask) the old duffers realise they have been in love with each other for 50 years.

In a Sliding Doors moment, they start to wonder how much happier they would have been if they had got together as teenagers.

Which is odd, because when coffin-dodgers normally talk about sliding doors, it is to complain that these new-fangled gadgets never work properly, and when they do it only lets the draught in, I don't know what was wrong with old-fashioned doors, you knew where you were with those, etc etc.

The show's title is a reference to infamous movie Last Tango in Paris. So will we see Alan greasing up Celia with a pound of butter before doing her up the wrong 'un, a la Marlon Brando?

Don't be so bloody daft, of course we won't. They are pensioners from Yorkshire. He'll use a dab of Stork.

● I AM not an ambitious man. I know this because, when watching The Apprentice, I usually prefer the look of the losers' greasy spoon cafe than whatever treat Lord Sugar has laid on for the winners.

Seriously, who wants to ponce around some distant luxury spa when there is a bacon roll and a brew waiting at the Bridge Cafe?

It is even worse on Young Apprentice, as all the treats are booze-free. Last week, the winning team was "treated" to a look around a famous London toy shop.

Well, whoopee fing doo! I'm no great entrepreneur but I am fairly sure that anyone can look around a shop, with or without permission from Lord Sugar.

That is rather the point of them, isn't it?

Time to freshen things up, Strictly

IT was a humiliating week for poor Ella Henderson on The X Factor.

Not only was the talented teenager axed from the show but she had to perform at Disneyland Paris while wearing a pair of Minnie Mouse ears.

Just imagine appearing on national television with something so fake and absurd perched on top of your head! (Unless of course you are Louis Walsh, in which case you already know.)

STRICTLY Come Dancing did a "time machine special" for its big Wembley Arena show in aid of Children In Need.

The idea was that each couple was magically transported to a different decade for their music and outfit choice. First up was Lisa Riley, who danced to the 1976 Rose Royce hit Car Wash.

Hang on a minute! Surely if the BBC wants to help vulnerable kids and can go back to the 1970s, the first thing it should do is sack Jimmy Savile and ship him to the fuzz, not piss about with iconic disco tracks.

Riley dressed to match the occasion. I don't mean she wore a 70s frock. I mean that when she span around in her samba tassels, she looked like an actual car wash roller.

It would have been even more realistic if they had made her dance for an extra two minutes. Fat lasses tend to sweat like racehorses and the lather would look a bit like foam.

Showbiz sofa monkey Richard Arnold was sent to the 1980s, where he danced to the Wham's Club Tropicana.

That song was about package holidays but Arnold seemed to think it was about the famous brand of fruit juice.

Why else would he paint his face orange?

Oh well, he was booted off anyway, so now he can enjoy a nice long package holiday.

Or, as I suspect he'd prefer, a nice long package.

Many of the celebs were nervous at the thought of performing at Wembley but others had seen it all before.

Nicky Byrne sang there so many times with Westlife that their hand prints were set in concrete outside, Hollywood Walk of Fame style.

Bruce Forsyth's hand prints could also be found outside – as fossils formed when a then middle-aged Bruce was making flint tools – and writing his jokes – during the pre-Jurassic era.

Judges Craig and Bruno enjoyed a big entrance, probably not for the first time.

They descended onto stage dressed as vintage RAF airmen.

It was not clear what they were supposed to be but I've always assumed Craig is a tail gunner while Bruno opens the bomb hatch.

NICE to see British actor Joe Absolom popping up in the excellent US drama Hatfields and McCoy's on Channel 5.

The show is about a load of toothless, violent, illiterate inbreds who cannot walk away from trouble. I wonder why they picked a former EastEnders to appear in that?

● CORONATION Street cad Lewis must read the Sport.

Just a few days after our feature on MDILFs (Mothers AND Daughters I'd Like to F), he is sniffing around Gail, daughter of his former squeeze Audrey.

"Sniffing" is the operative word, in fact, as he was charming Gail with talk of his favourite scents.

He said his favourite pong of all time was fresh black coffee.

Yeah, pull the other one matey. We all know it is a grieving widow's gusset.

Gail told him her favourite whiff was fresh linen.

Even if she does not have clean sheets, with a hooter like that she can detect anything on a washing line within half a mile.

EMMA GLOVER

By JESSICA HAWORTH
jessica@sundaysport.co.uk

TWEET yourselves to a gaze at these beauties, who've all been sharing their sexy snaps on social networking site Twitter!

Curvy glamour girl Emma Glover, 26, bared her stonking 32F assets when she posted this mirror shot online.

Sexy pin-up Danni King, 21, aired her eye-catching 32DD boobs while posing topless with a mystery pal on a webcam.

And brunette Nickie Ann, 22, squeezed her 32C curves in a dominatrix-style outfit for this naughty-but-nice snap.

Mammoth

Meanwhile, the celebs have been at it, too.

Geordie Shore star Sophie Kasael, 20, highlighted her mammoth 30GG pair in a push-up bikini on holiday.

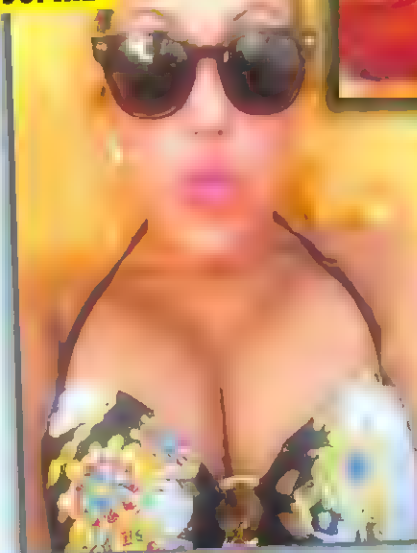

While Yank socialite Kim Kardashian, 32, donned a cleavage-enhancing bra.

And Aussie lingerie model Miranda Kerr, 29, slipped into a set of expensive knickers for this smouldering Tweet.

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK? JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

SO, farewell then alleged comedian Brian Conley, who has departed the IACGMOOH jungle due to a mystery medical condition.

I somehow doubt I'm alone in being happy to see him go.

On a scale of one to ten, he was about as entertaining as getting cramp at the baths.

That medical condition? Probably no fing funny bone.

DAVID Beckham is signing off from his six year Major League Soccer stint in Los Angeles seeking "one last adventure" before his playing career ends. He earned more than £120 million during his time in the US from his football salary alone. Surely it's time to let someone else have a go?

Frightening alternative to Helen's rack

I'VE long been determined not to like I'm A Celebrity, Get Me Out Of Here – and have long failed to do so.

What's not to like about a bunch of almost-celebrities living in relative squalor, crapping in a bucket and chomping on furry vaginas?

But then we get to Corrie Rosie – apparently also known as Helen Flanagan.

For five nights we screamed at the daft blonde bimbo to pull her fing finger out and at least TRY to attempt a busstucker trial.

Yet for those five nights she said no. Or fed it up by not listening to the rules. Or said no again. And again...

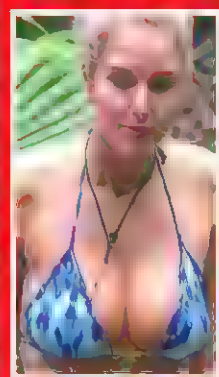

Then she really got on our collective tits by claiming she was "giving 100%" when in fact her efforts were deep in the minus figures.

And then, after all that, when I'd pretty much given up on her, she completely changes her attitude and gets all gutsy in the jungle.

The question now is – was she faking her terror all along?

And the answer to that is – who gives a toss?

No matter how stupid she acts, no matter what else she fails at, no matter what idiotic comments fall from that irritating mouth, the fact is, you could park a fing Grifter in that chest rack.

Corrie Rosie? Fing total

Keep her in, for God's sake.

As I most certainly do not want to find myself absent-mindedly pulling my pud over Rosemary Shrager.

WHEN it comes to TOWIE babe Lauren Pope – the only way is EXTRA SEXY!

The 29-year-old is regularly voted one of the hottest members of the ITV2 reality show.

But she definitely scores extra points over the likes of Sam Faiers and Chloe Sims because she regularly gets her 34DD boobs out for glamour shoots like this.

And she looks hotter than ever as a stripping saucy secretary.

Stockings

She said: "I love sexy stockings – they're so glamorous."

And the blonde doesn't just catch the eye of telly fans – even Hollywood star Lindsay Lohan took a fancy to her.

Lauren, from Torquay, added: "I met Lindsay Lohan in London's Faces nightclub."

"She tapped me on the shoulder and said, 'You're the prettiest girl in here, do you want to come and sit at our table?' She was clearly flirting with me."

Which just proves EVERYONE loves luscious Lauren!

CLASSIC Sport

THIS WEEK IT'S...

STUNNAS

REBEKAH TEASDALE

STUNNING Rebekah Teasdale had the sort of smouldering gaze that could halt a charging bull at 20 paces.

Her Anglo-Portuguese heritage blessed her with unusually exotic looks and a fabulously pert frame.

With dark brown eyes and wonderful 34C boobs, she was a Page 3 girl and nude glamour model for four years until quitting for good in 2004.

During her time in front of the camera, Birmingham-born Rebekah, who is still only 32, first posed for topless shots before moving on to strip completely naked for adult magazines and videos.

Rebekah also appeared as the Playmate of the Month in the August 2001 issue of Playboy's Croatian edition and also modelled for many other international erotic publications, photographers and filmmakers. She has posed for America-strength held-open shots and also been snapped using sex toys and simulating LESBO sex with up to three girls!

By JUSTIN DUNN

In one outdoor video scene, racy Rebekah stripped in a convertible car and pleased herself with a glistening dildo.

Knickers

In another, wearing just a small top and skirt, she is seen pulling off her knickers, lifting the skirt, PEEING and then immediately fondling her own boobs and lady bits.

She is now a well-respected DJ working as DJ Rebekah and has played in clubs all over the world.

Her name is sometimes misspelled "Teesdale" and she has also been known as Rebekah Parmar or Rebekah Parmar-Teasdale.

Teacher's romps with pupil, 17

A TEACHER has been arrested after claims she shagged a 17-year-old student.

Cops swooped on Jennifer Tyree, 36, after her husband tipped off the boy's mum.

She was charged with criminal assault when the teen admitted to the affair.

The English teacher now faces questions over a SECOND sexual relationship after the mum of another 17-year-old boy told police her son has had sex with her as well.

The first affair involved Tyree and a student at Lanphier High School in Springfield, Illinois.

Police believe she had sex with the boy several times when she was meant to be tutoring him, taking him to the cinema and accompanying him to kickboxing classes.

The affair came to light after her husband saw them acting inappropriately and found out they'd rented a hotel room together.

The school launched its own investigation into Tyree, who was not certified to teach in a high school.

MIDWEEK

WHY wouldn't the Egyptian believe he was drowning? He was in denial

Universities are full of spankers

THE success of kinky lady porn novel Fifty Shades of Grey has led to a surge in the number of S&M clubs at top universities.

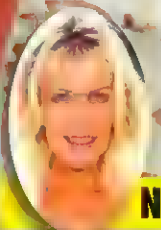

The spunk 'n' spanking novel by Brit writer EL James is being copied on swish Yank campuses including Harvard and Yale.

One Harvard student - who identified herself only as Marla - said she had around 400 groups to choose from and had settled on a club called Munsch.

Explaining what the club involved, she said: "A lot of taking orders and stuff like that. I'm really into the whole exhibitionist thing in semi-public places."

"I've been hit with a riding crop, a belt, a paddle, canes, a flogger... floggers are my favourite."

The spanking craze is also making colleges money with a string of campuses hosting seminars entitled "The Freedom of Kink" and "Kink for All."

Film claims OJ's ex-wife killed by man he hired

AN explosive new documentary claims OJ Simpson's ex-wife was murdered by a serial killer.

Simpson, a former American Football star and actor, was acquitted of murdering Nicole Brown and her friend Ron Goldman in 1995.

Now, a new film by Investigation Discovery is exploring claims that the pair were in fact slain by Glen Rogers.

The convicted serial killer is currently on death row in Florida for the murders of two other women a few months earlier.

His brother Clay has told documentary producers that Rogers – who professes to have killed at least 20 people – has since confessed to the murders of Brown and Goldman.

In the film, Rogers alleges that Simpson hired him to break into Brown's home and steal her $20,000 earrings – and gave him permission to kill his ex-wife if necessary.

Simpson is currently serving a life sentence for armed robbery.

Cleaner mauled by house bulldogs

A WOMAN died after being savaged by a pack of dogs while she cleaned their owners' home.

Remedios Romero-Solares had been severely mauled by at least one of the eight Old English bulldogs found running loose around the property.

The 30-year-old was found lying dead in the back yard by a cousin who came to collect her.

Relatives said it was her first time cleaning the house in San Diego, California, while the owners were away and she was not familiar with the dogs, which weigh up to 100lbs.

The Medical Examiner's Office has ruled the death an accident, but the homeowners – who were said to be breeding the dogs – face criminal charges pending an official investigation.

The dogs were taken into custody.

HEAD THE BALLS FOOTIE'S LOONIEST CHARACTERS

VICTOR KASULE

KAS ACT: Vic was great on the wing... and at the bar

NOW the footie season is in full flow you can watch the sport's pampered prima donnas.

But in our Head The Balls feature, we are reminding you of the violent nutters, randy rebels and peacocking playboys who over the years have graced the beautiful game with their presence.

Every week we'll be looking at a different one of the sport's most mental mavericks.

And this week it's the man they called Vodka Vic – Scottish winger Victor Kasule.

VICTOR Kasule takes huge offence to being called "Vodka Vic".

Not that he denies being a massive lush – he's just never liked vodka.

But brandy – now that's a different matter. In fact, his penchant for a bottle or 10 of Cognac is almost certainly the reason why his name isn't known beyond Scotland and Shrewsbury.

And it's also probably to blame for his career being effectively over by the time he was 25.

Born in Glasgow to a Scottish mum and Ugandan dad, the former a teacher and the latter a professor of zoology who died when he was just 15 years old, Vic was hardly dragged up.

But when it came to boozing, he put most Special Brew-supping tramps to shame.

Hero

A quick, gifted winger with a rasping shot, Vic started at Albion Rovers in 1982 – where he was one of the first black players in Scotland – and moved to Meadowbank Thistle for £28,000 after bagging 18 goals in 132 games.

He was so good the racist bigots even started singing his name.

Continuing his fine form, he played 35 times for Thistle, bagging seven goals and earning him a transfer to English side Shrewsbury who forked out £35,000 for his services.

Vic even gave up a place at Glasgow University to make his dream move south of the border.

He cemented his name into Shrewsbury folklore and became an instant hero when he scored one of the most spectacular goals ever seen at Gay Meadow, against Leeds

By JON LIVESEY

United in 1988. The icing on the cake was his celebration – a stunning somersault which left him with a dislocated toe.

And his popularity soared after he was booked for singing George Benson's Give Me The Night to the referee as his team enjoyed a 2-1 victory over high-flying Crystal Palace.

But it was pretty much all downhill from there for Vic as the booze began to take hold.

Mike Jones, a DJ on Shropshire station Beacon Radio, explained: "He was quite proud of his manhood and wasn't above sticking it in people's ears. And when disorientated by alcohol he was known to relieve himself in some unexpected areas."

According to Vic, his favourite watering hole was the White Hart.

He said: "I'll put my hands up. It was a nice family club and we did our best to ruin it. The minute these mad Jocks came down it got a reputation."

In two years at Shrewsbury, Vic – who couldn't drive – also found time to write off striker John McGinlay's car, overturning it after attempting a handbrake turn on a trip to get beer.

Eventually, Vic was offloaded to Hamilton Academicals in his native Scotland for a knockdown £15,000.

But he played just 12 games before getting himself suspended after returning to Shrewsbury for a party thrown by his ex-neighbour. He was arrested after an incident.

Vic recalled: "I took my usual 24 cans of Red Stripe and bottle of brandy. I was just sitting there drinking with my friends when this guy took a can without asking."

"I said, 'You could at least ask,' and he threw the can at me. I thought, 'I'm not having this,' but I was frog-marched out."

"Then a fight started. I was sitting on the wall with a bottle of brandy watching it. One of the boys was knocked out."

"The police came and asked if I was involved. I said no but out of spite the guy said I'd decked him. It was rubbish – if I had decked him he wouldn't have got up."

"So the police asked me what I wanted to be charged with. They read out a list of offences and I went for breach of the peace."

Pisshead

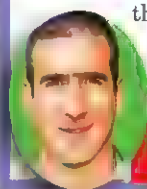

"They could have kept me in the cells all weekend, but they gave me a lift to the station to get the next train out, which was pretty decent of them."

Vic was fined £4,000 and sent to Portadown in Northern Ireland, going on to have brief stints in Finland and Malta.

Bohemians of Dublin were his last before he retired before the age of 30.

Now 47, he said: "I'd like to be remembered just as a footballer but if I'm remembered as a footballer and a pisshead then that's better than not being remembered at all."

My boyfriend tried the VIBRATING VAGINA. He switched the variable speed suction action having the choice of being massaged sucked or gently squeezed!
Was $29.95. Now $23.99.

I have always been very fond of RABBIT VIBRATORS and was so excited that I would have to try both of these amazing toys. Both RABBITS have 10 functions that lead you to the most wonderful climaxes ever. Powerful vibrating bullets and velvet feel to the touch with a clit tickler that will have you screaming for more right from the start. Girls if you don't own a RABBIT then don't delay. The rumours are all true!

Real girls getting 'em out

Kirsten, 23
from Edinburgh

Do you have many PHd students getting their boobs out in the paper?
Thought not! Anyway, here they are...the naked breasticles of a swotty scientist girl. Hope none of the geeks on my course read the Sport!

The girls who get 'em out are the genuine partners of Sport readers and have no connection to any of the adverts that appear on these pages. If you want to be a star without a bra send your picture to realgirls@sundaysport.co.uk and we'll get back to you

ADVERTISE HERE FOR AS LITTLE AS £45! CALL 0161 358 0353 OR 0161 358 0334 NOW!

TALK 2 ME LIVE!

LISTEN!

DON'T TALK!

JERK OFF!

0908

HEAR ME COME!

WHAT'S YOUR FAVE POSITION?

I love being on top. I like being in control of the situation and sitting on a bloke means I am in charge.

Plus it gives the guy a good view and he can see my boobs perfectly.

It's definitely the most fun being the one calling the shots – and I know it turns the man on too. What guy wouldn't want a girl riding him?

WHAT'S YOUR BIGGEST TURN-ON?

I love being kissed on the neck – it drives me wild! It's just so sensual and sensitive it gives me butterflies.

I think most girls love it – men should take heed. That's definitely the way to get me into bed. A few pecks on the neck and I'm all yours.

IS THERE ANYTHING OFF LIMITS IN THE BEDROOM?

I'm up for anything... except being peed on! I definitely don't fancy that.

I know girls who love it, though. I think they just find it really dirty and it gets them going. But if a bloke tried to do that to me he'd be straight out the door.

As for bondage and role play – bring it on! Fifty Shades of Grey was tame – everyone gets up to worse in their bedroom, surely?

DO YOU HAVE ANY SEXUAL FANTASIES?

I'd love to wear some black leather bondage gear and turn myself into a real dominatrix. I'd wear a tight, full-body suit with thigh-high boots and have a whip and handcuffs.

I want to look like a real-life Catwoman – that would be amazing. I just love being in control. I know it turns a guy on and it means I can do what I like.

I don't end up having something done to me where I'm like: "What the hell?"

HAVE YOU EVER HAD A GIRLY EXPERIENCE?

Yes, lots of times! It was something I enjoyed when I was younger, but now I've matured a bit I definitely prefer to have sex with guys.

The girl-on-girl thing is just a bit of fun. I've kissed girls and we've touched each other and indulged in some petting – but I've never used toys with a girl.

DO YOU HAVE ANY GIRL CRUSHES AT THE MINUTE?

I absolutely love the glamour model Danni Wells. She is naturally beautiful and everything about her is real. I like more subtle looking girls.

I know a lot of women are going all out to get everything done at the minute – boobs, lips, bums – but I think the natural look is definitely more attractive.

EVER HAD A THREESOME?

Yeah, I've had sex with a guy and a girl at the same time. I enjoyed it and it is definitely something I'd do again.

My only rule is that the guy can't have sex with the other girl, he can only watch me having sex with her.

I'd like to tie the guy up and make him watch – that would be fun.

IN THE PICS YOU ARE WEARING STOCKINGS AND SUSPENDERS – IS THAT A FETISH OF YOURS?

I love wearing hold-ups in the bedroom rather than stockings and suspenders – it's easier. Suspender belts can ping off at the worst moment, which is a definite turn-off.

I do like dressing up in high heels and stockings but I haven't done it for ages. I think it's about time I got them on again!

WHAT IS YOUR BIGGEST TURN-OFF?

I hate it when a man is too rough. I always end up going: "Ow, Ow" – it's just not for me at all. I like to be the one in charge – I'm allowed to be rough, but not the man.

WHAT IS YOUR BEST ASSET?

Definitely my smile and my big brown eyes. People tell me I look like a young Brittany Spears, which is flattering.

And I love my boobs. I like that they're natural and I've had no work done.

I always get complimented on them.

WHAT ARE YOUR THOUGHTS ON MASTURBATION

I quite like it! And I find it

AMY
GREENBy KELLY JENKINS
news@sundaysport.co.ukFLIRTY minx Amy Green is enough to drive any man wild.

That's because she dreams of being a bondage queen and admits she likes to take control in the sack.

The blonde bombshell fantasises about tying a man up and forcing him to watch while she gets dirty with another girl.

And she even daydreams about dressing as Catwoman in a leather bodysuit for a steamy dominatrix session.

Amy, from Sheffield, says she loves her 32D boobs and likes to show off her long legs in stockings and heels.

Here the 24-year-old fills us in on the secrets of her kinky bedroom antics.

really hot when a guy w*nks in front of me - it's so horny.

I think it's because they are vulnerable in that moment and I like that.

I sound like a complete dominatrix, don't I?

I think I'm horny!

DO BLONDES HAVE MORE FUN?

Definitely! I think us blondes are a bit more "out there" when it comes to action in the bedroom.

We're more fun - we'll say silly things and don't take ourselves too seriously.

I think that means we have much better sex lives because we're up for a good time. I'd say I'm living proof of that!

THE LOWDOWNFAVOURITE TIME OF DAY?

Anytime, I'm always ready!

HOW MANY TIMES A DAY DO YOU LIKE SEX?

At least twice.

CELEBRITY CRUSH?

It's Gerard Butler because he's rough and ready.

WHAT WAS YOUR BEST SHAG?

In the kitchen on the breakfast bar. We moved onto the sofa and then the bedroom - it was last week!

WORST SHAG?

When a fella finishes in seconds and you have that awkward moment of: "Oh, is that it?"

Toss-in-can beer man's public ban

A FLASHER who masturbated into a can of BEER has been banned from having open booze containers in public.

Michael Wayne Adams, 36, was arrested and charged with indecent exposure, public masturbation and with violating an open container law.

Police arrested him after seeing him flash near a medical centre in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Records show Adams has convictions dating back to the 1990s and he's been convicted of assault on a female, breaking and entering and assault with a deadly weapon.

Thanks to his recent indecent exposure antics, he's become known as the "Dilworth Flasher", after the area of Charlotte where he operates.

Adams was arrested in February after he was accused of flashing at several women - including once as he rode a bike while "masturbating furiously".

Adams was released from jail on a bail.

MIDWEEK

WHAT is the difference between erotic and kinky? Erotic is using a feather....kinky is using the whole fin' chicken!

Russians set for booze hike

RIOTS are expected in Russia after the federal government announced plans to hike the price of vodka by 36%.

The Federal Service for Alcohol Market Regulation published a draft decree saying that minimum retail prices for vodka could reach 170 roubles (£3.30) for half a litre on Jan 1 - up from the current 125 roubles.

And retailers wouldn't be able to sell cognac cheaper than 280 roubles for half a litre, compared with the current price of 219 roubles.

This is still pending approval by the Finance Ministry and the Justice Ministry, and if approved, it will come into effect next year.

The government expects that by increasing the minimum retail prices for strong spirits will help in the fight against producers of bootlegged alcohol.

I don't understand the fuss, to be honest. I mean, what's so special about my private parts?

If anyone told me it smells I'd be mortified. When I say smell, I mean a skanky stinky smell, you know, like the bins round the back of the chippy on a Sunday tea-time.

I know it doesn't smell like that...it just smells...well...you know...girly, I guess!

And guys love to smell that on my pants. you know, on the gusset where sometimes, if I've been turned on or just a I leave a little girlie mark!

I wear different undies depending on the occasion. For the gym I wear sensible boxer style ones, for work I wear belly warmers that don't show a line and for going out I'll put my best ones on...sometimes a tiny thong and sometimes something more substantial! I bet you'd be happy to bury your face in any of them, eh?

Dear Julia,

MY brother's wife is a right cracker – blonde, with a nice body and lovely, firm tits.

He held a party at his house a fortnight ago and his missus looked really sexy in a very tight black dress.

She was flirting with all the blokes and when I saw her going into the back garden with her neighbour I followed.

I couldn't believe my eyes as when she got this bloke's knob out and started sucking him off.

Later on, at about 2am, we started chatting and she led me to the bathroom.

She locked the door and whispered to me: "I know you want to f me."

She then took off her dress, knickers and bra and lay on the floor.

Dirtier

I took my pants off and unleashed my massive hard-on into her. She was loving it as I pounded away and was telling me to f her hard.

After I had made her come I took my knob out and exploded all over her tits.

The next morning she told me that she would like to see me her again, so we arranged to meet that night at a disused factory.

She got into my car and told me that she wanted anal sex. I can't believe my luck with this bird – she's dirtier than any porn star I've ever seen!

I'm having a great time, but fear that my brother will find out.

What do you think I should do?

DY, Swindon

Julia says:

I THINK this affair is very dangerous though. And you should stop before anyone gets hurt – you don't want to lose your brother over a girl, even if she is a great shag!

WITH JULIA CROWN 23, 34D-24-34 FROM BRACKNALL

PORN STASH MADE WIFE SO HORNY

Dear Julia,

I'VE always had a pretty healthy sex life with my wife and I have never had any reason to feel disappointed.

And, until now, I thought that she had been pretty happy too.

Having said that, I have a collection of porn that I've never mentioned to the missus.

I stashed the DVDs away in a cupboard in the spare room and hadn't looked at them for ages.

But the other night I woke up in a sweat at 2am and realised my wife wasn't in bed beside me.

Dildo

I heard voices downstairs and crept down to find her on the sofa with her legs drawn up, her knickers nowhere to be seen and a 10-inch dildo thrust up her chuff.

She was gazing at a film on the box that featured two blokes giving a gorgeous brunette a good f.

And by the noises my wife was making she was absolutely loving it.

I continued watching for a couple of minutes as she eased the dildo in and out of her moist fanny, yelping with delight each time the veined plastic phallus slipped past her swollen fanny lips.

By then I had a massive hard-on and I was in two minds whether to just finish myself off where I stood or burst in on the wife.

I chose the second course and she whipped round to see me with my cock in hand aiming for her open mouth.

She was too shocked to argue and gave me the most enthusiastic blowjob I have ever had.

The film was still playing away and she urged me to shag her doggy-style just like the woman was enjoying on the screen.

My wife screamed in ecstasy in a way that I'd never heard before.

Later, we cuddled up in bed with – I thought – shared contentment.

But the next morning she gave me a bollocking for keeping the movies hidden and said she could have enjoyed an even better sex life if she had known about them.

I was too gob-smacked to ask where she'd got the dildo from and I fear that this episode might ruin our marriage.

What do you think?

SH, Stockport

Julia says:

NONSENSE! It will be the making of it, so get talking... and watching the films together.

As you have both proved, it's much better when you do it that way and it might improve your sex life no end.

Dear Julia,

I HAVE just met a single mum who moved in next door.

One day last week she came outside to talk to me at the front gate.

It was quite warm and she had no shoes on.

She was leaning on the fence and had one foot resting down the side of her leg.

She asked me if I liked her bare toes.

I said, "Yes", so she asked me if I would like to go in for a coffee.

As we sat at the table she started to rub my balls with her toes.

This got me going and I went under the table and put her big toe in my mouth, even though it was quite dirty and rough.

She screamed with delight and begged me to carry on and lick the whole of her foot – even the rough patches on her heels.

Now every time I see her, she takes off one shoe and rubs her bare foot up and down her leg and gives me a smile.

I then go home and have a w*nk.

Have I got a foot fetish?

HR, Poole

Julia says:

YES – but it's harmless.

Dear Julia,

I'M a big fan of Midweek Sport glamour girls and regularly dash off to the bogs at work with the paper.

I mentally caresses their boobs and slide my hands up their luscious thighs, and all these erotic thoughts set me up for a hard day at work.

My favourite girl is the magnificently busty Sophie Howard.

But my boss says I spend too much time in the loo. What should I do?

KL, Durham

Julia says:

IF it's a sacking offence you'd better take the paper home and do your caressing there.

Horny couple want me in their sandwich

Dear Julia,

I'VE had my breasts enlarged to 36DD and it's wonderful – I never fail to pull when I'm out on the town.

I was at a club last weekend when I noticed this guy looking at me. I went over and began chatting.

I could feel his eyes on my chest all evening and he could hardly believe it when I suggested going back to his place.

Once inside we began to rip each other's clothes off.

I unclipped my bra and he sank his mouth down over my nipples and began sucking and nibbling. My hand grabbed his huge cock and I began to w*nk him off. I went down on him, sucking on the end of his cock and then taking the whole length in my mouth.

I like giving good blowjobs because I find the guy always screws you much harder after. He pushed me on all-fours and slid his cock in.

Juice

He grabbed me by the waist and shagged me hard and fast.

I pulled away from him and tugged him off over me – his juice running down my tummy.

Then the door opened and in walked his girlfriend. "Did you save some for me?" she said with a grin on her face.

I called her over and let her lick his juice off me. Then the three of us then rolled on the bed.

He later confessed that he often lets his girlfriend watch him and she would do the same.

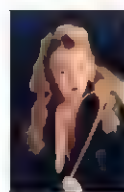

Now they want me to be the regular filling in their sex sandwich.

DF, South Wales

Julia says:

IT sounds like a wonderful idea to me.

BRITAIN'S NO. 1 ASTROLOGER WRITES FOR YOUR STARS

WITH JUSTIN TOPER

MIDWEEK Sport

CAPRICORN (22 Dec - 19 Jan): WHAT is happening is the kind of stuff dreams are made of. However, there is a lot going on behind the scenes and your eagerness to press forward with certain plans may be your undoing. In reality you could find yourself wandering lazily or hazily on Thursday, but there is plenty more that fascinates than deflates you. While a tense link between Mars in Capricorn and Uranus in Aries on Friday denotes a time of home truths and when the suspense is finally broken.

AQUARIUS (20 Jan - 18 Feb): THERE are a number of invitations to mull over and your youthful presence is required. Despite one or two magical experiences, you really need to keep friendships and finances separate, particularly on Thursday. Actually you should manage to extract a few promises, if not make some exciting discoveries by the end of the week. Another interesting character will appear out of nowhere. In any event, you may need to check their credentials.

PISCES (19 Feb - 20 Mar): ADMITTEDLY you have so much potential, even though your boasts may sound a little hollow. The Sun at odds with Neptune in Pisces on Thursday is a sure sign that someone in authority is being antagonistic. At least you are guaranteed a measure of success, even if the novelty may uncannily wear off at the end of this week. To be more concise, you have to promote yourself rather than rely on those who have relatively little power. Still, you are socially acceptable.

ARIES (21 Mar - 19 Apr): THIS could be an incredible time to travel though you may witness all kinds of different spectacles, which is putting it mildly. As it is, the Sun is obscured by the dreamy planet Neptune on Thursday. Therefore, for one reason or another, it might not be possible to make one of your frequent trips or foray though you probably have more ambitious things in mind. Either way, there is a lot to wade through, but you must follow your dreams at all costs.

TAURUS (20 Apr - 20 May): BY rights, you should manage to turn your fortunes around, even though in a strange way the materials or people you have to work with are not exactly user-friendly. Admittedly, with the Sun challenged by Neptune on Thursday, there could be a trust issue or that you seem less optimistic about being paid out. This is not an enormous amount. Besides that, you are bound to be in the right place at the right time once this week comes to a close.

GEMINI (21 May - 20 Jun): THERE should be a lot more interaction now, even though you may be unsure of others' motives. Indeed, because the Sun is overshadowed by the deceptive planet Neptune on Thursday, at times partners or loved ones might try to pull one over you. At any rate, what you are offered shortly afterwards is a quite different proposition altogether. You might have to have it shipped in. The same applies to a relationship that you are separated from.

CANCER (21 Jun - 22 Jul): A BENEFICIAL alteration of some kind is indicated, even though you cannot expect everything to run like clockwork or according to plan. In fact, because the Sun is at odds with Neptune on Thursday, once again something will crop up and you might end up feeling cranky or tired of working and therefore a break from routine is advisable. In any event, you will receive certain assurances at the end of the week and it will make you try even harder. Believe in yourself and you'll do well.

LEO (23 Jul - 22 Aug): YOU may be about to become heavily involved, even though your very personal life remains in an unhappy state. No matter. In some respects, others can be bribed or emotionally blackmailed, despite the fact that what happens on Thursday may be slightly costly. Simply keep business and pleasure or friendships and finances apart. On a brighter note, you can look forward to a twist of sorts at the end of the working week. Guess who arrives to save the day?

VIRGO (23 Aug - 22 Sep): YOU might enjoy the odd night out, but matters closer to home are stressed. In fact, since the Sun is challenged by Neptune on Thursday, it is more likely that partners or family members will misrepresent you in some way. Make of that what you will. Of course, it doesn't mean that everyone is unprincipled and by rights what you receive on Friday is not a miserable wage packet. Far from it. Perhaps you can afford to make a move without causing an upheaval.

LIBRA (23 Sep - 22 Oct): YOU will probably be busily making plans, even if others' requirements are maddening and you may end up tired and disillusioned. True, with the Sun at odds with Neptune on Thursday, you cannot help but feel that you have too much to deal with and therefore have to limit your movements. All the same, what is taking place will shape your future and you could experience one of the greatest revivals of all. Apart from that, it will change a personal relationship forever.

SCORPIO (23 Oct - 21 Nov): YOU too can expect a distinct or dramatic upturn in your fortunes, or enter into the blessing that only God permits. Of course, there is no point getting carried away, especially as what takes place on Thursday may force you reassess your personal values. In any case, you cannot resist taking a leap of faith, no matter the cost. Chances are that a small gesture means something larger, but human nature will get the better of you. What about trying another avenue?

SAGITTARIUS (22 Nov - 21 Dec): THERE is no doubt that you could be deliriously happy – and still will be if you can smooth things over at home. However, with the Sun in Sagittarius at odds with Neptune in Pisces on Thursday, you might have to revise a dream move even though you will continue to pursue this energetically. In some respects, it serves you best to be a little reckless, despite not having limitless pockets. What you are left with at the end of this week is a rare gift.

HAS JUSTIN BEEN SPOT ON WITH YOUR STARS – HE WAS FOR THIS READER!

TELL US: TOPER@SUNDAYSPORT.CO.UK

JUSTIN is a legend in our house – and his amazing predictions in last week's column were absolutely spot on for me.

First he wrote that I would finally get some appreciation for my work – which came true when the wife thanked me for looking after the kids and shopping when she was in the hospital with her mum.

Then he told me all my aches and pains would go away – and he was right again!

After a few drinks on Thursday night, and a solid nine hours' sleep, I felt great the next morning.

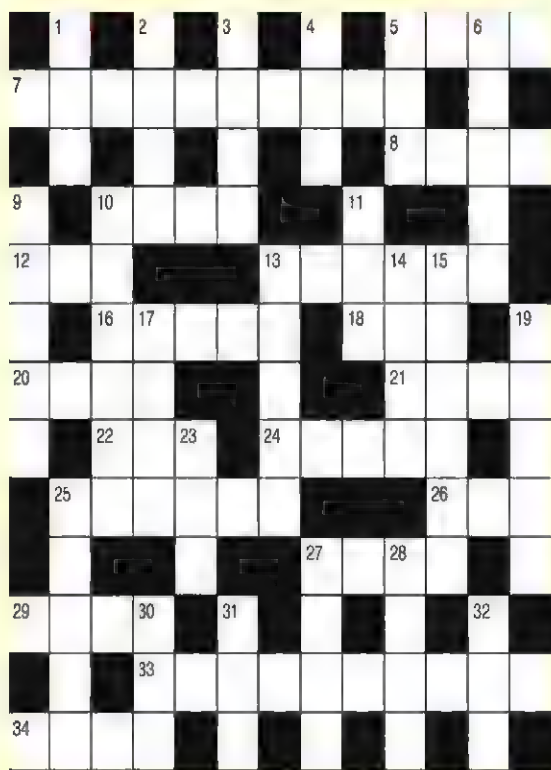

The usual aches in my knees and ankles had disappeared completely. Cheers!

RAY RELIEF HE DIDN'T SNUB SLAM

RAYMOND VAN BARNEVELD has revealed that he almost turned down the chance to play in last week's William Hill Grand Slam of Darts.

The Dutch star (above) ended five years without a major individual title by taking a 16-14 victory over Michael van Gerwen (below) in Sunday's final.

His last win had come in the 2007 Las Vegas Desert Classic, but the 45-year-old was back to his best at the Wolverhampton Civic Centre. However, complications with his diabetes during October led Barney to consider taking a month's break from playing in order to concentrate on his preparations for the World Championship next month.

"About six weeks ago I thought about skipping the Dutch Masters and the Grand Slam of Darts because I didn't feel well and I wanted to focus on the World Championship," he said.

"I was having a hard time with my diabetes and I wanted to work on my energy levels, but two close friends of mine persuaded me to play and I'm glad they helped me out."

Van Barneveld has won five World Championship titles during a glittering career but slumped to a new low at last year's event when he lost to rookie James Richardson.

However, he hopes that his Grand Slam win can kick-start his career, adding: "Lifting the trophy means a lot to me. I am really proud and it looks like I'm going to have a new era."

"There were a lot of years when I was thinking if I could still do this."

"But I've practised really hard and I have done a lot of things to get in shape and I believe in myself again. Hopefully I can do good things in the next few years."

CRICKET

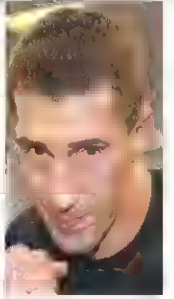

STEVEN FINN has been ruled out of England's second Test against India on Friday with a thigh injury.

England coach Andy Flower revealed that the Middlesex paceman faces a second scan today to assess the problem.

England will also be without Ian Bell as they bid to bounce back from their first Test defeat in Ahmedabad as he has already returned home for the birth of his first child.

Flower said: "We don't think Steven has got any structural damage, but it would be careless to suggest that he might play in the second Test."

SENCHENKO: AM OUT FOR KHAN CRACK

VYACHESLAV SENCHENKO is using Ricky Hatton as a stepping stone to a showdown against Amir Khan.

The Ukrainian faces "The Hitman" at Manchester Arena on Saturday night when Britain's best-loved boxer ends a three-and-a-half year exile.

Hatton would also dearly love a Khan crack, but Senchenko is out to shatter those hopes.

The ex-WBA welterweight champion, 35, (above) said: "This is the way to come back into the limelight – to beat one of the most popular boxers in the world."

"It would put me back in the top position."

"If I beat Ricky then I can get another shot at a title."

"I'm not looking that far yet, because when I win this fight I will be in contention for some of the biggest fights out there."

"I could fight Amir Khan if I win, but right now I'm concentrating on this fight."

"I will have to see what to do next."

Senchenko suffered his only loss in 33 fights in April when Paulie Malignaggi took his title by stopping him in nine rounds.

There are plenty in boxing concerned that Hatton (below) is returning to the ring having suffered booze, drug and mental worries since losing to Manny Pacquiao in May 2009.

But Senchenko says Hatton will be able to roll back the years in their welterweight 10-rounder.

"We know that Ricky would not have come back if he wasn't at his best," said Senchenko.

"We are expecting the best Ricky Hatton – a prime Ricky Hatton."

"There will 18,000 Hatton fans but once I'm in the ring it's just me and Ricky. The fans are not in there with him."

GARETH ROBERTS

CUTTING THROUGH THE BULLSHIT EVERY WEEK

Hughes has lost his Spark... and his job is next!

WHEN QPR clung on to Premier League status by the strand of one of Mark Hughes' greying pubes last season, the Loftus Road gaffer was confidently beating his chest, looking to the future and predicting bright days ahead.

Steely Sparky – no doubt staring out anyone who caught his gaze – boomed: "When I said no team of mine will be in this position again, I meant it. We're ready for the next level."

Well, he was right about the position. In May the Hoops sat in 17th – a point better off than relegated Bolton. Now they're bottom of the Premier League without a win in 12.

Seventeenth looks like the Promised Land.

And that wasn't just the place QPR finished last season in. It's also the position they were in when Neil Warnock was sacked in January after masterminding Rangers' promotion to the big time.

Warnock comes in for a lot of stick for his old-school approach – yet he was racking up more points per game for QPR than Hughes.

This time last season Rangers had clocked up 15 points. Now they're on four.

Hughes has won just eight of his 34 games in charge at Loftus Road, and only once since May 6 – against Walsall in the League Cup.

Let's be fair, that's fing shite. The chop looks inevitable for the spiky Welshman.

Club owner Tony Fernandes has been patient so far. But the thought must have crossed his mind that if Hughes can't beat Southampton – newly promoted and without an away point before Saturday – then who CAN he beat?

Rangers' next game is away at Man United. It's going to get worse before it gets better.

Hughes looks a beaten man despite having five former Champions League finalists in his squad in Djibril Cisse (Liverpool), Park Ji-Sung (Man United), Julio Cesar (Inter), Fabio da Silva (Man United) and Jose Bosingwa (Chelsea). He's signed a dozen new players, spent around £30million and pushed the wage bill through the roof. Yet there seems to be little of the fight or spirit that served him so well at Blackburn.

Away from the boss, Arumours are rife of a bad atmosphere.

It's clear that Cisse for one isn't enjoying life at Loftus Road – the king of the crazy haircuts has scored only two goals in 12 games.

And when a fan tweeted the striker to tell him he "couldn't hit a cow's arse with a banjo" at the weekend, the 31-year-old responded by inviting him to a face-off at the training ground.

TIME'S UP
Hughes is 1-4 in the bookies to be the next Premier League manager to taste the chop.

Nando's in Torr-ment

FACE Fernando Torres still doesn't look happy at Chelsea.

The Spanish striker barely touched the ball in the defeat to West Ham at the weekend and got the boot early in the second half.

The 26-year-old former Liverpool forward has scored just one goal in the last six weeks and only 11 of 46 appearances for the Blues.

With Andy Carroll ripped out on loan to West Ham from Liverpool, the £55m berry-go-round that saw Torres swap Anfield for Stamford Bridge and Carroll move from Tyneside to Herefordshire has got some of the worst business football deals ever.

FOOTIE BALLS-UPS

THIS week's talking balloons award goes to you, you're brilliant! – Mark Hughes. "We're at a point where we need to understand some of the..."

Aye, bottom of the league with four points.

War crying

NEIL Warnock climbed aboard the "Name refs for ever" train as Leeds lost 1-0 to Millwall.

On whistler Mark Halsey, Warnock said: "I think it's scandalous they're not consistent enough. They're going backwards."

Leeds were down in the Championship when Warnock took over. How they're 18th. What was that about going backwards?

What was that about going backwards?

Love the newscast. We're going through a bit of a... I wonder how the team feel about giving up at Park.

On eight-year-old during the peak of their purple patch. Seemed a good... the day, etc?

I know which one my money is on.

I know which one my money is on.

I know which one my money is on.

I know which one my money is on.

I know which one my money is on.

Hughes on brink at Loftus Road

MARK HUGHES is a dead man walking at Queens Park Rangers and now faces further showdown talks with owner Tony Fernandes.

Sparky is on the brink after managing just four points from 12 Premier League games this season.

The disastrous defeat to Southampton at the weekend put his job in jeopardy.

And he held meetings with chief executive Philip Beard earlier this week, when he was offered the chance to resign.

By JIMMY POLLOCK

Sparky refused to quit and the board could not sack him while Fernandes was away with his Caterham F1 team in America.

But Fernandes is expected to be back in England before the Hoops' weekend trip to face Manchester United. Former Reds striker Hughes has been given no chance of getting a result at Old Trafford, although QPR face winnable games against Sunderland, Aston Villa, Wigan and Fulham after that.

But Sparky needs to persuade Fernandes to give him more time to kick-start QPR's season.

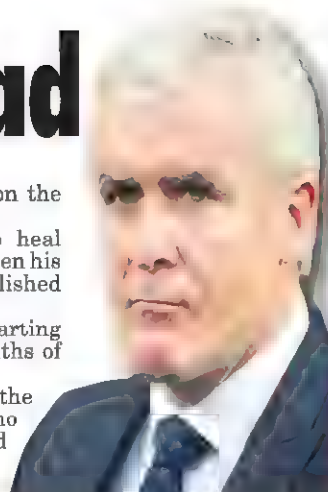

The owner sanctioned heavy spending on wages over the summer after just surviving in the Premier League on the final day of last season.

Hughes has failed to heal dressing room rifts between his new signings and established players at the club.

And Fernandes is starting to get worried after months of backing his boss.

At the weekend the Loftus Road supremo said: "Many of us need to take a hard look at ourselves."

CANILL SWEET FOR TOFFEES

TIM CANILL wants to return to Everton on loan in January.

The Aussie left the Toffees in the summer to join MLS side New York Red Bulls. But with the season ending Stateside next month he wants to keep playing.

David Beckham, Robbie Keane and Landon Donovan have all had loan stints in Europe in the MLS pre-season.

Canill said: "I know I have a lot more to offer. I get to enjoy the MLS but I also get the chance of joining back up in the Premier League and playing in the best league in the world."

ADAM REVEALS CROCK SHOCK

READING striker Adam Le Fondre has revealed he was injured when he netted his side's winner against Everton.

Le Fondre was barged over in the box by Seamus Coleman with the game in the balance at 1-1.

He picked himself up and felt his hamstring tighten before carrying on to slot home his second penalty of the season.

Le Fondre said: "Just before the run up I felt it, but I knew I'd score."

Boss Brian McDermott didn't realise at the time there was a problem.

He admitted: "I'm glad he didn't tell me - I would have panicked!"

BAD BREAK FOR LATICIS

WIGAN boss Roberto Martinez is set for more midfield woe after James McArthur's comeback hit another delay.

McArthur was set to return last week from an apparent dead leg suffered three weeks ago - but the injury is now thought to be more complicated.

Martinez is now short of central midfield options after Ben Watson broke his leg in Wigan's 3-0 defeat to Liverpool at Anfield on Saturday.

Martinez said: "James is not ready yet. We're going to continue to assess him this week to see how he develops."

APPY HAPPY TO LOAN 'EM

BLACKPOOL boss Michael Appleton is desperate to bring in loan players before the window closes on Thursday.

The Seasiders have been hit with injuries as Matt Phillips is out with a toe injury and Gary Taylor-Fletcher has picked up a hamstring problem.

Appleton is focused on getting some fresh faces in before the weekend.

He said: "I'm pretty confident we can identify the right players we'd like to bring in before the deadline."

"There will be a lot of movers and shakers and hopefully we'll be among them."

IT'S A BATTLE TO GET BECKS

By MIKE McGRATH

DAVID BECKHAM will spark a Premier League bidding war after quitting LA Galaxy.

Goldenballs has confirmed he is leaving the Yank club after the MLS Cup final on December 1.

He wants another challenge before hanging up his boots and clubs around the globe are queuing up to cash in on the former England captain's marketing value.

"I wanted to experience one last challenge before the end of my playing career," the 37-year-old confirmed.

Becks is fiercely loyal to old club Man United but has previously been open to a loan move to Tottenham.

English clubs will table offers for the midfielder but he does not want to end his career on the bench at a struggling club.

Paris St Germain will make another bid after failing in a deal worth £12million last year.

Coach Carlo Ancelotti has worked with Becks before at AC Milan and the club's mega-bucks Qatari owners are still keen on the player.

Ultimate

Beckham could also stay in America as he has a clause in his contract allowing him to buy into another franchise.

New York Red Bulls are in the frame if Becks takes the first step into ownership, which is one of his ultimate aims.

Beckham added: "I don't see this as the end of my relationship with the league as my ambition is to be part of the ownership structure in the future."

"In my time here I have seen the popularity of the game grow every year."

"I've been fortunate to win trophies but more important to me has been the fantastic reception I've had from fans in LA and across the States."

"Soccer's potential has no limits in this wonderful country and

PSG & Prem clubs lead the charge to capture Goldenballs

I want to always be part of growing it."

Clubs in China and Australia are also ready to launch bids, although Becks' representatives say he is not going Down Under.

But Melbourne Heart claim they are in talks over a 10-game spell.

Chief exec Scott Munn said: "We are incredibly serious and working tirelessly with David's representatives to table a compelling offer which would be commensurate with the international player that David is."

"We are talking to David about a 10-game stint. Football's the third code behind Australian Rules football and rugby league."

"We think David takes it to the next level."

Oil-rich Russians Anzhi Makhachkala have the wealth to link Beckham up with their current stars Samuel Eto'o and Yuri Zhirkov, but a move to eastern Europe is unlikely.

Lambo not hell-Bent on giving Darren the axe

YOU WILL NOT QUIT: Lambert (inset) is still keen on giving Bent a chance at Villa Park

ASTON VILLA boss Paul Lambert claims he is not going to sell Darren Bent in January.

The £24million hitman has been stripped of the captaincy and forced to play second fiddle to summer signing Christian Benteke.

He is now sidelined with an ankle injury, but Lambert insists there has been no bust-up and does not want him to leave.

The Scot said: "Honestly, I'm not actively looking to sell him. It's just back to the injury and I have to look after another 20 lads."

"It's never an issue - I don't have any problem. He's still the same. Goalscorers are the exact same but the team's playing really well. It would be unfair on other guys. They've been brilliant."

By IAN BAKER

Bent was leading scorer in his first full season at Villa Park following his arrival from Sunderland.

The ex-Ipswich, Charlton and Tottenham man, 28, has also played 13 times for England.

But Lambert has warned he must wait his turn when he recovers from his knock.

He added: "I have to pick a team I think will win. I've always done that, I've never had any favourites. I look at them as equals and try to get the best out of them."

Villa currently sit in the bottom three and owner Randy Lerner is expected to hand Lambert cash to splash in January.

Ron Vlaar is backing Villa team-mate Andreas Weimann to bounce back stronger from his penalty pain at the weekend.

Frustration

The Austrian was fuming after linesman Adrian Holmes flagged for a non-existent handball in the 5-0 drubbing by Man City on Saturday.

Weimann accused Holmes of "killing the game", calling the decision a "disgrace". But skipper Vlaar says the striker will take out his frustration on Arsenal this Saturday.

"Of course he was upset," said Vlaar. "He said he didn't touch the ball and he was right, so it's not as though he has let anyone down. Nobody blames him."

"He was disappointed but it wasn't his fault. He couldn't do anything about it - it was just a call from the linesman."

"Andreas is a strong character and it will make him more determined to do something against Arsenal."

"That decision changed the game but it's happened and we have to move on and pick ourselves up."

STEPH PRIMED FOR GOAL-FEST

By JOHN WARDLE

SUNDERLAND striker Stephane Sessegnon is in the mood to go goal crazy.

The Frenchman netted for the first time in eight months to round off the Black Cats' win at Fulham on Sunday.

Seb Larsson was not surprised to see his team-mate hit the target - and predicts there are many more to come.

Larsson said: "It was a massive goal for him. In training over the last couple of weeks he has looked back to his best."

"He has been scoring quite a lot in training with strikes like that.

"It was good to see him take it on and hopefully he can kick on now."

Sunderland now face four home games in their next five Premier League fixtures and Larsson hopes the win at Craven Cottage will be a turning point.

He added: "We needed something like that - coming away with three points from a very tough away game to lift everyone's spirits."

Warnock's charged for red rage at ref Halsey

By FRANK McCAULEY

THE FA have charged Leeds manager Neil Warnock with improper conduct for his comments about referee Mark Halsey following his side's 1-0 defeat at Millwall on Sunday.

Warnock hit out at Halsey in his post-match comments after the official dismissed Luke Varney at The Den.

Varney was sent off just three minutes into the second half for an apparent elbow on Adam Smith.

Warnock said: "The effort that's gone into the game and we're talking about a refereeing decision - it's scandalous."

"When you watch it again, we don't have thousands of Millwall fans screaming at us."

"It's not caught him where he is holding when he's gone down. Referees aren't consistent - they've gone backwards."

"I think Mark Halsey will be disappointed when he sees it, but that will do us no good."

Warnock, 63, (left) has until 4pm on Friday to respond to the charge.

I'D NEVER SWAP LUIS SAYS JAMIE

LIVERPOOL v YOUNG BOYS

EUROPA LEAGUE – Thursday, 8pm, ITV4

LIVERPOOL veteran Jamie Carragher would not swap Luis Suarez for any other striker in the Premier League.

Carragher, 34, is set to get a rare start for the Reds against Young Boys as the golden oldie is a preferred choice for the Europa League.

The defender has been in awe of Suarez, who is keeping Liverpool's season alive and may start or come on from the bench against the Swiss side.

Suarez, 25, is on 10 league goals so far this campaign and has netted 34 in 69 games since joining from Ajax two years ago.

Carragher reckons the Uruguayan (below) is up there with the best strikers he has ever played with and would not even swap him for Robin van Persie.

He said: "He is definitely right up there."

"I can only talk about the players I've played with – Robbie Fowler, Michael Owen, Fernando Torres – and I think he comes pretty close."

"For him to do what he is doing in a side that is still building under the new manager, I wouldn't swap him for anyone in the Premier League."

"I think what he does in our team and what he gives us no other player really could."

with Young Boys in Group A and defeat would leave them with a battle to qualify for the knockout stages.

Manager Brendan Rodgers may rest one or two of his bigger names with a trip to Swansea ahead at the weekend.

Suso made his debut for the Reds against the Swiss side earlier this season and may get a start on Thursday night.

Stewart Downing is another name who may get a run out having mainly been used in the competition.

The winger could be set for a shock loan move back to Middlesbrough as the Championship side prepare a bid and the former Boro man would be keen.

PARDEW HAS TO AVOID TOON TRIO

NEWCASTLE v MARITIMO

EUROPA LEAGUE – Thursday, 8pm, ESPN

NEWCASTLE UNITED'S Europa League clash against Maritimo tomorrow night has suddenly become a massive game for Alan Pardew.

The Magpies' dismal Premier League form has upset their fans and Pardew knows he cannot afford a third successive home defeat at St James' Park.

Victory will guarantee they progress from Group D and earn a place in the last 32 of the competition – but it may not be a Madeira cakewalk for them.

They should have the firepower to finish off the team from the Portuguese island, but home defeats to West Ham and Swansea have eroded the confidence of Pardew's players.

And he goes into the tie with the crowd on his back – and deprived of several key men.

Midfield is a big concern for Pardew, who will be without the suspended Cheick Tiote and injured French ace Yohan Cabaye.

And replacements Dan Gosling and James Perch are also crocked.

But good news comes in the shape of Jonas Gutierrez, who could return after recovering from a knee injury.

Pardew (above) said: "It was touch and go with Jonas where we thought we could not risk losing him."

"We think he will be okay for Thursday and hopefully he'll be fine for Sunday at Southampton."

Pardew is aware of the threat from Maritimo, who led 2-0 in their first meeting which eventually finished 2-2.

They will send a full-strength side, but Pardew said: "With all due respect to them, we are going to kick ourselves if we don't beat them at home."

"We certainly don't want to lose three home games on the trot, so it's a big one."

"We need to get this hurdle out of the way and then look for our first Premier League away win."

Maritimo have failed to score in their two previous games in England, both against Leeds in UEFA Cup campaigns.

Newcastle are unbeaten in 24 home games in the second-tier UEFA competition and have won their last eight at home.

Giroud's gaffes are behind him

BOSS PRAISES OLLY AFTER POOR START

ARSENE WENGER reckons Olivier Giroud has finally proved himself at Arsenal.

The France international had a nightmare start after a summer switch from football in his home country.

Giroud put in a series of clumsy performances – and missed plenty of sitters too.

Now he goes into tonight's Champions League clash with Montpellier – the club that sold him for £10million – in much better form.

He has bagged five goals in his last five games and Wenger reckoned the 26-year-old has turned it all around.

He said: "There were many factors. The first one is that I believe physically he worked very hard when he arrived here. The intensity of the games took a lot out of him."

"The second problem was to do with an understanding with his partners."

"The third problem was level of confidence. When you come to a club like Arsenal, you are surrounded by big names. It takes you a while to think, 'OK, I belong in this world'.

"What I like is that he has a good attitude and a good team spirit. He is ready to put his body on the line for the team. Once you have that and his qualities, you wouldn't fix any limit for any player."

Qualities

Wojciech Szczekny has got his position in goals back from Vito Mannone following injury.

Wenger explained: "In my head, he was No.1, so he gets the chance to show he is No.1. He has the qualities, he is a top keeper."

Pace man Theo Walcott misses out because of a shoulder injury and defender

Andre Santos is also out but front man Gervinho and left-back Kieran Gibbs have been passed fit.

Former Portsmouth forward John Utaka is one of many players ruled out for French champions Montpellier, who already know they can't qualify.

Arsenal will kick-off at the Emirates in second spot in Group B with two games left and they could qualify for the knockout stages tonight.

That will happen if they beat Montpellier and Olympiakos lose to Schalke.

The Germans, who lead Arsenal by one point, will go through if they win.

If the Greek side avoid defeat in Germany, they will take qualification down to the final game when they host Arsenal on 4 December.

BONKERS BALO CAN BE BETTER THAN RON

Mancini tells Mario to knuckle down if he wants to reach top

By CHRIS McKENNA

ROBERTO MANCINI has told Mario Balotelli: "You could have been as good as Cristiano Ronaldo and Lionel Messi."

The Italian striker may not get a chance to go head to head with Ronaldo as he faces a late fitness test before City's must-win clash with Real Madrid because of a back injury.

Mancini has called on Balotelli to get focused and finally fulfil his potential after more than two controversial seasons at the Etihad.

MANCHESTER CITY v REAL MADRID

The City boss believes Balotelli has the talent to match superstars Ronaldo and Messi but does not realise he has to work hard.

The Italian front man has been in the headlines more times for his off-field antics than the few moments of magic he has produced on the pitch.

And Mancini has called on Balotelli to dig in ahead on tonight's must-win game for the Blues.

Difficult

He said: "Mario is a great guy. Sometimes he does not understand his job and how it is important for his life."

"I hope he can understand this quickly. He is 22 and as a player he would be like Cristiano and Messi if he understood to be like this and work hard.

"Your mind should always be on your job and not the other things and I am very sorry for this because he could be best player in the world.

"It is not easy to work with him every day, it is difficult. I hope he can change."

City are currently bottom of Group D, five points behind second-placed Madrid, and need a win over the Spanish giants and then victory over Borussia Dortmund in their final group game.

They would also need Ajax to lose to Dortmund tonight and then beat Madrid in their final group game.

As a result, Mancini is not confident of progressing.

"Football is fantastic because when you play well against teams like Real Madrid and Barcelona you can win. You can beat the best teams.

"It's my opinion that Real Madrid are the best team in the world, with Barcelona. When you play them you play against 11 top players. You have to pay attention to all their players."

Knockout

City are without defender Gael Clichy because of an ankle injury.

Ronaldo will return to Manchester for the first time since his 2009 exit from United for a record-breaking £80million transfer fee.

Jose Mourinho also returns to England to take charge of his 100th Champions League tie and will not want to leave with his 21st defeat.

A win and defeat for Ajax against Dortmund would see the Spanish champions into the knockout stages.

LAZIO v TOTTENHAM

EUROPA LEAGUE
Thursday, 6pm, ITV4

ANDRE VILLAS-BOAS faces a crunch decision on whether to throw Emmanuel Adebayor straight back into Europa League action tomorrow.

The Tottenham striker was distraught after getting sent off in the derby against Arsenal on Saturday – leading to defeat at the Emirates.

AVB has not included the Togo international in European away trips, but should ask him to travel to Lazio for Spurs' toughest clash in Group J.

Moussa Dembele has an outside chance of playing after recovering from a hip injury.

The Belgium midfielder went to Antwerp to work with Lieke Martens on the problem.

And the physio reckons Dembele will return to Spurs injury free following their sessions.

Spurs legend and Sunday Sport columnist, Paul Gascoigne, who also played for Lazio, has been invited to the match.

Lazio president Claudio Lotito said: "I thought it was an obligation on our part to invite him."

Character

"He represented the history of our club, was one of our all-time favourites and is still in the hearts of many fans because of the character and the great displays he gave."

"Gascoigne has had a very positive attitude when he has been offered this opportunity."

Lazio midfielder Hernanes reckons the Italians can get the win that will earn top spot.

"We have had several good results recently," he said. "And we will be sure to go on to the field with the right attitude."

"If we win, we will qualify for the knockout stages, so we'll have to concentrate."

"Spurs put us in a lot of difficulty at their place because they are strong, technically and tactically."

"But if we play like we know we can, with the ball on the ground, then we shouldn't have any problems."

TOP OF THE WORLD: Messi and Ronaldo may have competition

DIG DEEP: Mancini wants Balotelli to work harder

BURAK YILMAZ scored the winner for Galatasaray to leave Sir Alex Ferguson temporarily deaf.

The Turkish fans raised the roof when the striker's 54th-minute header beat Anders Lindegaard.

But Fergie's youngsters made a quiet impression of their own playing in the loudest stadium in world football.

And the Manchester United boss can be very pleased with the performance of Nick Powell on his debut.

The 18-year-old was the standout player for the Reds on a night where the result did not really matter. United had already qualified for the knockout phase as group winners so Fergie opted to play his third youngest side in United's Champions League history with an average age of 24.

He had left Wayne Rooney, Robin van Persie, Paul Scholes, Ryan Giggs, Rio Ferdinand and Patrice Evra at home away from the cauldron of hate.

But his young guns held their own early on and could have taken the lead just two minutes in.

Danny Welbeck burst through and fed Tom Cleverley who saw his shot deflected straight at the keeper.

United were given some scares at the back though as Yilmaz's effort was fumbled by Lindegaard before the striker headed another chance over the bar.

Lindegaard came to the Reds' rescue again when he kept out Hamit Altintop's shot from the edge of the area.

Yet Ferguson's young men were doing a decent job of keeping hold of possession.

Tempo

And in Powell – a summer signing from Crewe – Fergie looks to have found a new star.

The 18-year-old looked impressive and was keen to burst forward at every opportunity.

And it was the new kid who came very close to breaking the deadlock two minutes before the break.

Powell headed onto the underside of the bar from Cleverley's corner but the Turks were able to clear their lines.

Powell was increasingly assured in the second half although he shot well wide of the post.

But it was Galatasaray – who needed the win to make it past the group stage – who raised the tempo.

Felipe Melo's header was sensationally saved by Lindegaard. But from the resulting 54th-minute corner the Turks were ahead.

It was Yilmaz who rose highest to beat United's defence and nod home.

Fergie's side should have been level almost immediately with Javier Hernandez mis-hitting his shot.

Anderson then shot straight at Fernando Muslera while at the other end former Arsenal star Emmanuel Eboue forced Lindegaard into another stop.

And Altintop hammered a shot late on which hit the crossbar.

Fergie was desperate for his side to snatch a late point and threw on Federico Macheda and Ashley Young for Anderson and Powell.

But despite some late pressure they could not find the leveller.

ALL LAST NIGHT'S

SHAMBLES: Petr Cech & his defenders look gutted after Juve go 2-0 in front

TOOTHLESS

CHELSEA are on the brink of becoming the first Champions League holders to be dumped out in the group stage.

Goals either side of half-time from Fabio Quagliarella and Arturo Vidal, plus a late third from sub Sebastian Giovinco, gave Juventus a deserved win that means the Blues' destiny is out of their hands.

They should win their final game against Danish also-rans Nordsjaelland on December 5.

But that might not be enough as Shakhtar Donetsk are already through and probably won't be too fussed about beating Juve – which is required for Chelsea to stay in the competition.

It all heaps a mountain of pressure on manager Roberto Di Matteo.

He led them to glory in Munich in May when they won the final against Bayern. But that night must seem like a million years ago to the Italian, who could soon find himself replaced by Pep Guardiola if hard-to-please owner Roman Abramovich loses his patience.

Di Matteo decided to drop Roman's pet player Fernando Torres to the bench and go without a recognised front man.

JUVENTUS 3 CHELSEA 0

The idea was for Chelsea's more attacking midfielders to exploit the spaces – but in reality the Blues were soon under the cosh.

Petr Cech had to pull off a great save to divert a shot from Stephan Lichtsteiner onto a post after Mirko Vucinic's ball had picked him out.

Chelsea almost took the lead themselves with a great counter attack that saw Oscar slip Eden Hazard in.

Danger

The Belgian could have shot first time but took a touch and that was enough for Gianluigi Buffon to come out to divert it into the side-netting.

Cech was soon needed at the other end again, though, this time to deny Claudio Marchisio.

The danger came from Andrea Pirlo's corner, which was played back for Marchisio to blast first time and Cech did well to palm it round a post.

The Italians continued to fire in shots but Cech was able to get behind them more comfortably.

Chelsea replies were rare but one – courtesy of a Pirlo error – saw Ramires scuff wide from close range.

The Brazilian then went on another run and this time played Oscar in, but defenders got back in time to block and the chance was gone.

Just when Chelsea thought they were getting the hang of it they fell behind. Quagliarella claimed the goal – deflecting Pirlo's shot past Cech who was completely wrong-footed.

Within seconds Ashley Cole had to clear off the line as Juve came again, but a Chelsea counter saw Buffon deny Juan Mata straight after.

Chelsea started the second half in a daze and Vucinic blasted wastefully over.

Gary Cahill survived a penalty appeal as Vucinic went down and Cech then saved low from Quagliarella before tipping a Pirlo long-ranger round a post.

Goal No.2 was coming though, and Vidal provided it with a shot from the edge of the box that deflected off Ramires after Kwadwo Asamoah had laid the ball back.

Torres came on with 20 minutes remaining but he could only watch as Giovinco slotted past Cech, who had come racing out recklessly, for goal number three in stoppage time.

Kop flop Downing set for Boro loan

STEWART DOWNING is weighing up a loan move to his first club Middlesbrough to help with their promotion push.

The Liverpool winger has struggled to get a game at Anfield under Brendan Rodgers.

And he is ready to drop down to the Championship in the January transfer window in order to kick-start his career.

The Reds seem likely to attempt to offload the 28-year-old, who joined in a £20million switch from Aston Villa in July last year, with Rodgers keen to address his lack of strike power.

Other Premier League clubs are interested in a permanent move but Downing is understood to be determined to prove he still has a long-term future on Merseyside.

Downing has managed 14 appearances this season and has often been played out of position at left-back thanks to the emergence of Raheem Sterling.

Blues on brink of Euro exit after torture in Turin

ROBERTO DI MATTEO'S time as Chelsea boss could soon be up after his side got a Champions League spanking by Juventus.

The holders know they're likely to be eliminated in a couple of weeks' time – just six months after winning last season's competition.

They are relying on already-qualified Shakhtar Donetsk to beat Juve in their final game.

And if it doesn't happen then Di Matteo knows he'll be facing the sack.

Keeper Petr Cech admitted the holders were unlikely to survive.

He said: "We said before the game our destiny was in our own hands, but not any more."

"It's a very sad moment. Last season winning the Champions League was like a dream."

"I wouldn't say it's a nightmare but it's a huge disappointment."
